BENJAMIN RICH, of Fleming.

FOR ASSEMBLY,
P. E. WOMELSDORF, of Philipsburg,
HARRY R. CURTIN, of Roland,

FOR JURY COMMISSIONER,
JOHN D. DECKER, of Potter twp.

HOW IS IT?

The well intentioned citizen who has not yet decided how to vote at the coming election may well consider his ground. I hope he will inquire of himself how he likes the conditions since the Republican party has gone out of power. How has it been with him individually? Has he had steady employment? Is he paid the old Republican wage rate? Does he find the cost of living cheaper and the ability to meet that cost better? Is his business prosperous? Is he as contented and confident of the future as before? When he has answered to himself these vital questions let him, on his way to the polls [illegible] the silent mill, the cold furnace, the broken bank, the deserted forge, let him pass by poverty and want, business paralyzed and confidence vanished, and then record his judgment of the responsibility for these conditions and his hope for the future in the ballot which he places in the box.—From speech of General Hastings at the League of Clubs convention.

THIS IS THE TIME.

This is the time for the best endeavors of prtriotism. If it shall grasp the great opportunity now presented the Republican party will enter upon a new if not a grander career in the redemtion of the land from material and industrial paralysis, from the lack of confidence, which is the father of panics, from that commercial frenzy which drives solvency to the wall, and from that unscrupulous quality of demagogy which seeks to array class against class, capital against labor, and section against section.—From speech of General Hastings at League of Clubs convention.

THE bitter lesson of the past two years with every industry paralyzed, our laboring people out of work and some times starving. The product of our farms reduced to a price so low as not to pay the cost of production, and all these evils brought upon us through vicious legislation and threats of worse, calls upon every patriot no matter what may have been his past party affiliations to administer in the coming election a stinging rebuke to the party which has brought all these troubles upon us. The Republicans have presented for the support of the people a man in every way qualified to represent this district in the U. S. Congress. He is an able speaker, an earnest republican and a true patriot. He is able to do and will do all he can to restore the better times of other days. Every lover of his country therefore should vote for W. C. Arnold for congress. His nomination has been so well received by the people of the district that his election seems fully assured. Let every Republican and every true lover of his country do all he can from now till election day to secure the election of Mr. Arnold to Congress. Pennsylvania is going to send almost a solid delegation to the next House. Mr. Arnold's name will appear as one.

Grover Cleveland refused to take any part in the New York State Election which has somewhat seriously deranged the plans of the Democratic National Committee.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Oct, 8, 1894.

From Our Regular Correspondent.)

The U. S. Pension bureau, a branch of the Government in which political partisanship should never be introduced, is now being used to coerce applicants for pensions to vote for democratic candidates for Congress. Certainly a more shameful abuse of authority has never been known in Washington. It is stated that no applications will be acted upon between now and the date of the Congressional election, except those endorsed by the democratic candidate for Congress in the district in which the applicant has a vote, and in order that democratic candidates may have a chance to try to influence the vote of every applicant for pension in their districts they are furnished with lists, giving names and addresses, by the Pension Bureau. The number of names on these lists furnished to the democrats in a single state—Indiana—exceeds 50,000. There is double ignominy in this sort of thing for the administration. First, in trading upon the necessities of old soldiers, many of whom are known to be sadly in need of the pittance for which they have applied. Second, in taking up the time of clerks in the Pension Bureau to prepare lists of applicants to be used by democratic candidates, thus lessening the number of applications granted and robbing the old soldiers out of just that much assistance. And all for the purposes of making votes for the democratic party, which has during the short time it has been in power managed to do the country more harm, aside from actual loss of life, than did four years of war. As a rule the old soldiers are thoroughly patriotic, and for that reason it is doubtful whether these tactics will influence many of them to vote to send a democrat to Congress, thus helping to continue the democratic time of the last year and a half.

The roorback season began a little earlier in this campaign than it usually does, but there is reason for the belief that the publication of the first one, that charging the chairman of the republican Congressional campaign committee with being mixed up with the [illegible] was premature. The democrats were quietly nursing it with the intention of using it in all districts where the Catholic vote is heavy a day or two before election, when it would have been too late for its correction, but a newspaper man got hold of it and having more desire to furnish his paper with a sensation than to serve the democratic party he sent it out and it was printed. Of course the story is too silly to be accepted by any but the most credulous. It carries its own contradiction on its face. No man not an idiot in chairman Babcock's position would hold any relations with the A. P. A. or any other organization with similar objects in view, and chairman Babcock is so far removed from being an idiot that he is regarded as one of the best campaign managers the Congressional committee has ever had. Mr. Babcock will this week go to his own district, to look after his re-election, leaving Representative Apsley, of Mass., vice-chairman, in charge of the Congressional committee.

The result of the Georgia legislative election has put the democratic campaign committee into what closely resembles a panic. Its members now concede the loss of one Georgia Congressional district to the populists and other democrats say they will be lucky if they do not lose at least three. There is a disposition among democrats to make Senator Faulkner, who is chairman of their campaign committee, the scape-goat for the unpromising outlook of their Congressional campaign. They say that he either intentionally misrepresents the situation or is such a confirmed rainbow chaser that he is unable to see things as they are. They do not object to his making his talks for publication rainbow-hued, but they say that he talks the same way to them when they know better, and they think if he doesn't know any better that he isn't fit to be at the head of the committee. Hoke Smith comes in for most of the blame for the result in Georgia. He is charged with having unnecessarily introduced the silver question into the state campaign and with having by his extreme position in favor of a gold standard driven many silver democrats into voting with the populists.

The situation in New York is giving the democrats much trouble, largely owing to their uncertainty as to the real position of the administration. It is presumed that the administration will be compelled in self-defense to aid Hill to the full extent of its power, but it is not known that it will do so, and the democratic campaign committee is in consequence afraid to commit itself, although it is overwhelmed with letters and telegrams asking what it proposes to do. All of which is entirely unobjectionable to the republicans.

THE coming session of the Legislature promises to be a very important one. The Republicans of Centre County should therefore give an honest and united support to our legislative Candidates, P. E. Womelsdorf, Philipsburg and Harry R. Curtin, Roland. They are both good men and will be elected if the Republicans do their duty.

Give Canada Credit.

Although Canada is still a separate country, it is too closely allied with the United States in some things to be regarded as altogether a foreign nation. In the matter of sanitary regulation, particularly, the two countries are hand in hand, and it is satisfactory to know that the dominion authorities are on the alert to keep disease from its shores, when immigrants might bring it with them. The meeting of the American Health Association, in Montreal, brought to general notice the action taken by Canadian authorities in this regard. The quarantine station at Quebec is said to be one of the most complete on this continent, and, in the opinion of Surgeon General Wyman, of the marine hospital service, at Washington, this has had much to do with keeping the United States free from epidemic with foreign countries. It would be vain for the health officers at New York to be vigilant if there were a loop-hole for disease on the Canadian border. If a dangerous pestilence were to become intrenched in Canada, it would be very difficult to keep it on the British side of the border, and there would be trouble in the United States in a very short time.

We must give our neighbors credit with using every care to keep out pestilence, and for acting hand in hand with United States officials in disinfecting the baggage of immigrants, and taking what other action may be deemed necessary. With a quarantine system in this country that could hardly be better, and similar vigilance in Canada, it has been possible to keep cholera out of this country at a time when it was raging in so many parts of Europe, and there is reason to hope that the same promptitude in action will prevent its ever getting to this side of the Atlantic again, further than on shipboard. [illegible] in the results of the international meeting at Montreal, but the announcement of Canada's vigilance gives us all a very comfortable confidence in the health authorities of both countries.

McClure on Curtin.

In the Philadelphia "Times" of Monday Col. A. K. McClure pays tribute to his lifelong friend, the late Andrew G. Curtin in an editorial three columns in length. It is a noteworthy article, and, if space permitted, would be well worth reproduction in the columns of this paper. The opening and closing paragraphs are as follows:

Just as yesterday's morning sun was lifting the curtain of night in the east with the promise of the brightest of autumn Sabbaths, the life of Andrew Gregg Curtin ended in the dreamless sleep of the dead. Measured only by his great public record, that is rarely equaled in patriotic achievement in either field or forum, he did not die untimely. He had passed nearly a decade beyond the period allotted to mortals and his great work was finished. For several years he has entirely rested from the wearing exactions of public affairs, but he did not lag superfluous on the stage. His interest in the country in whose annals he has written a most lustrous chapter was never lessened, and his life, closed in the mellow grandeur of ripened years, with all the cherished affections of youth and beloved by all who came within the range of his acquaintance.

* * * * * * *

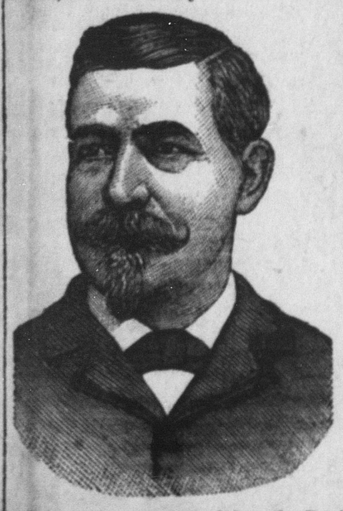
Thus has Andrew G. Curtin rounded out his great life; great in statesmanship, great in war, great in peace, and greatest of all in illustrating the attributes of humanity to temper the sorrows which befel the nation under his rule. He lived beloved by all who knew him and whose love was worth the keeping; he dies lamented by scores of thousands, who will ever speak the name of their known but unseen benefactor with the affection and reverence that would temper death to kings and potentates could they hope for such homage at their tombs.

M. L. McQUOWN, of Clearfield, the Republican candidate for Senator in this district is the only name that will appear as a regular candidate upon the official ballot. His election therefore is almost a certainty. There are two Democratic candidates whose names will appear upon the official ballot as independent candidates. Every republican in the district should use all his influence and do all he can to give Mr. McQuown a rousing Republican majority.

THAT John G. Love will be the next President Judge of the 49th Judicial District, does not admit of the possibility of a doubt. The Republicans of the whole district are united in his support. His majority cannot be less than 1500 or 2000.

Huntingdon Solid for Love.

Some of our democratic friends have been hugging the delusive hope that the earnest and long-drawn out judicial contest over the the judge ships in this district would engender such bitterness, that our candidate, John G. Love would not secure the united support of the Republicans of Huntingdon County. That this hope is but the delusive fabric of a pleasant dream all who know the sentiment of the people of that county are well aware. All Republians in that part of this judicial district are earnest in their support of their candidate. All the papers of Huntingdon county are givng earnest and hearty approval to the people's choice. The Journal, Globe and Mt. Union Times, with one accord give positive assurance that Mr. Love will receive support of every true Republican in their county. In speaking of their candidate, the "Globe" says:



John G. Love, our candidate for President Judge, is a man who by force of character, moral rectitude and professional ability has worked his own way from the bottom of the legal ladder to the very top. He is a well-rounded lawyer, both as a counsellor and as an advocate, and an inspection of the court calendars of Centre reveals the fact that his name appears [illegible] if not more suits, than any other lawyer at the bar. This affords the surest criterion by which to gauge his professional standing and worth. Were he not endowed with the high personal character and professional ability with which we accredit him, it is very doubtful if the Republicans of Centre county would have chosen him as their candidate over so eminent a jurist as Judge Furst, who was his competitor at the primaries. Mr. Love is a member of the Methodist church, he was a gallant soldier during the Rebellion, and in matters affecting the best interests of Bellefonte and the community has always been a leader. He is in the very prime of life, being physically strong and mentally acute, and if spared by the Almighty, will grace the responsible and honorable position he now seeks.

In another place the Globe promises 2000 majority for the ticket in that county. The Mount Union Times after quoting from the Bellefonte Republican on Mr. Love's reception home adds: And not only at his home was the news of Mr. Love's nomination received with enthusiasm. His many friends in Huntingdon county rejoiced when they heard the news, not because they were not friends of Mr. Lovell, but for the reason that they honestly believed that, under the existing circumstances, Mr. Love was entitled to the nomination.

We would also call the attention of our democratic friends again to the declaration of Mr. Lovell, his opponent: Mr. Lovell, in a brief speech thanked his conferees for constancy to him and also declared himself as entirely satisfied with the result, and expressed his intention of doing all in his power for the success of the nominee, assuring Mr. Love that he would get the undivided support of the republican voters of Huntingdon county.

The Journal of Huntingdon also speaks in high praise of our candidate, and assures us that he will receive the undivided support of the Republicans of that county. This assurance of our friends in Huntingdon county is very gratifying to the Republicans of Centre and it is only what we expect from such true and patriotic Republicans as those of our sister county. They recognize the fact that principles are greater than any single man, for no one can question the fitness of either of the candidates asking for the nomination. Had Mr. Lovell won in the contest he would have received the cordial support of the Republicans of Centre County. His manly course in this contest has endeared him to us all, and we shall never forget it. He has made hundreds of new friends in this county who will stand ready to honor him whenever the opportunity may present itself for them to do so. Though defeated in this contest, his noble action has endeared him to all true Republicans and shown him to be "a combination and form sublime upon which every art conspires to set its seal to give the world assurance of the man."

The Last Leaf.

Dr. Holmes, who died at his home in Boston Sunday afternoon, was the last of the famous group that for more than a generation gave New England a commanding prominence in American literature. Though not, in a strict sense, a man of letters, he was a man of learning, and what was better, a man of wit. It was he who lightened the extreme solemnity of the Atlantic school with the saving sense of humor, and by teaching the Bostonian to laugh at himself, saved him often from the laughter of others.

Neither as a poet nor as a novelist can we place Dr. Holmes in the first rank, even of his contemporaries. He was an amateur who wooed the muses for diversion; and while they smiled upon him, as he deserved, and accepted fully the service of his later years, there is still much of the quality of the amateur in the great bulk of the work that he turned out with such facility. Yet every now and then he touched a point of high inspiration. A few of his lyrics are of the kind that will live; he has written two or three American ballads that are among our cherished possessions; in his prose he has created not a few real characters and in it and above all in those poems of occasion which no one has excelled, has enriched the wisdom of his generation by a criticism of life whose humor but adds value to its philosophy.

What was most remarkable about Dr. Holmes was the grace with which he grew old, if he can be said to have grown old at all. The "last leaf on the tree," he did not cling, in the words of his early verses, to a forsaken bough. He never dried up, but kept the rich sap of his sympathy flowing as freely in the hazy atmosphere of the end of the century as in the bright, early days of young American enthusiasm. He was a Bay State man through and through, but a thorough American, and his life as a physician had given him a knowledge of mankind and with it a broad humanity that made him always one of the most delightful as he has long been one of the most honored of the writers of America.

Webster's Last Speech.

Webster's last speech in Washington was made from the portico of his mansion in response to a serenade given by some of his admirers, who were more zealous than considerate. The news of General Scott's nomination for president had just been received. Webster had failed of the nomination, and the failure had broken his heart. It was a beautiful star-lit evening, and Webster, appearing before his friends, said a few words complimentary to General Scott, for whom, in fact, he had great contempt; then, turning away from the subject of politics and the nomination, he said: "Gentlemen, this is a magnificent night." Then he apostrophized the stars and the planets revolving in their orbits in one of those splendid flights of oratory of which he alone was capable. Then, suddenly descending from the skies to the earth, he said; "I now bid you good night. I shall retire to my couch to rest in untroubled sleep, and on the morrow the lark will not rise more jocund to greet the rising sun than I shall." It was the speech of a politician. He praised Scott, whom he despised, and he sought to convey the impression that he did not take to heart his failure to receive the nomination, when, in fact, it was the greatest disappointment of his life. Four months later he died at Marshfield.

MR. CARNEGIE who robs his laboring men to furnish large libraries in honor of his name, stands with the democracy on the tariff question. He does not pretend to explain however, how the employes in his steel mills are benefited by reduction of 20 per cent in their wages through the democratic tariff. There are philanthrophists. Some to do good to their fellow-men and some moved by a spirit of selfishness, seek a lasting fame.

Getting Ready for It.

The activity of Cleveland's cabinet officers in the state campaigns is as significant of the temper of the country as anything could be. That a tidal wave is feared by the administration is undoubted. The first indications of it come from Georgia, where there was a drop of half the usual democratic majority. The Georgia populists have been carrying off seats in the legislature at a rate rather alarming to those democrats who considered the state theirs by right of inheritance.

The silver question cost some of the usual majority and the tariff act more, and no one knows where it will end or what will be the representation in the United States senate when the election of a senator is necessary.

Meanwhile the cabinet officers and others high in the councils of the nation have laid their plans to stump the various states and do what they can to save something from the wreck threatened by the unpopularity of the policy of President Cleveland and his congress.

This course is not unprecedented, but it is sufficiently peculiar in its comprehensive character at present to indicate that there is something more than doubt as to the future in the minds of the national leaders of the democracy.

Hon. Andrew G. Curtin.

In the death of Hon. Andrew Gregg Curtin, which occurred at his home in this place early Sunday morning, one of the greatest men since the days of Lincoln has passed away and his demise will be mourned not alone by family and friends and the surrounding community, but by state and nation. His noble work during that great strife from 1861 to 1865 endeared him to the hearts of every patriotic citizen and won for himself an imperishable name. No man living at that time done more for his country and more for the defenders of the old flag than just Governor Curtin, and the many acts of kindness done by him have been topics of conversation in every house in the land for years.

And in all his public life since the war Mr. Curtin displayed the same wonderful and marked ability that made him so famous and loved at that time. It is said of him that he committed but one mistake in his life and that was when he forsook the party of his birth and went over to the democrats. That act, and we now recall it without criticism, was the only thing that kept him from being president of the United States.

As in his public life, so in his private life, Mr. Curtin always displayed that love of right and justice, loyalty to his friends and spirit of fairness for all that was one of the leading characteristics of his life. Socially he was one of the most affable and pleasant of gentlemen. His tall commanding figure was a sure attraction for a large circle of friends; and when we say friends it includes all who knew him. He was a model husband and father; an exemplary citizen and neighbor, [illegible] his fellowmen were among the leading traits of his character, and none knew him but to admire and love him.

In life he counted his friends by thousands; in death he is universally mourned and his memory will be kept green in the hearts of every Pennsylvanian as long as time shall endure. He has fought a battle of life given to but few men to fight; he ended one of the noblest of conquerors and there is not one in the legion who knew him but will breathe the silent prayer, "peace to his ashes."

About Pensions.

United States Pensions Agency, Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 3rd, 1894.—You are advised that the Act of Congress, of August 23, 1894, authorizes, empowers, and requires fourth-class postmasters to authenticate pension vouchers. No postmasters except those of the fourth class can act in this capacity, nor can their assistants act. Their power to authenticate is confined to vouchers. No other papers in a pension case can be executed before them. But they are required to act, if called upon to authenticate such vouchers, and they must fill up the same as well as administer the oath or take the affirmation. The stamp of office to which the law refers is held to be an impression of the post-marking stamp of the postmaster, authenticating the voucher in question. It will not be necessary for the postmasters to write after or below his name the words, "Fourth class Postmaster." The word "Postmasters" or the letters, "P. M." will be sufficient.

I have so many inquiries on this subject from fourth-class postmasters and others interested, that I have deemed it advisable to give more extended publicity to the requirements of said act, as interpreted by the Pension Bureau, and take this method of doing so.

GEORGE W. SKINNER,

DURING the first sixteen months of President Harrison's administration the receipts of the Government were $110,595,414 more than during the first sixteen months of the present administration. No wonder we have to borrow money and increase the National debt.

AT LOGGERHEADS

Anti-Tammany People Do Not Seem to Desire to Ride the Tiger.

New York, October 5.—The conference of the various anti-Tammany associations was held this afternoon. There were present committees from the O'Brien anti-Tammany democracy, the Grace new state democracy, the Steckler independent county democracy, the confederated Good government clubs, the republican organization and the German-American Reform club.

The committee of seventy this afternoon had prepared a regular county ticket which was unanimously adopted by the committee. It was as follows: Major, Colonel William L. Stron; recorder, John W. Goff; president of the board of alderman, John Jerolomen sheriff, Otto Kempher; judge of the superior court, Henry R. Beekman; coroners, Dr. William O'Meagher and Dr. E. W. Hoeber.

The session lasted over three hours, and when it came to a close nothing definite had been done. The Grace democracy bolted the committee of seventy's ticket entirely, refusing to have anything to do with a ticket which was headed by a republican as a candidate for mayor. The German American union, through its spokesman, Theodore Sutso, said that they accepted the nomination of Mr. Goff for recorder, but that they could not accept the rest of the ticket until they had consulted with the organization. The followers of James O'Brien, through their spokesman, Captain Brady, declared that they were willing to accept the ticket of the committee of seventy in their eagerness to down Tammany Hall.

John E. Milholland also said that his party was willing to accept the ticket, and the Steckler organization also said it would stick to the committee of seventy's ticket.

Massachusetts Republican.

Boston, October 5.—The republican state convention will meet in Music Hall to-morrow morning. The session bids fair to be short and sharp. Congressman William Cogswell, of Salem, will preside, and in his address will denounce the democratic party for passing a tariff bill for which David B. Hill would not vote, which the president would not sign and which Senator Mill declares does not reflect the sentiment of 1,000 people, which reduced the revenues only $19,000,000, mostly on luxuries and to do this enacted the sugar tax $43,000,000, and an odious income tax. He will also condemn it for increasing the bonded debt, spoiling the gold reserve, attacking the pension system, repealing the federal election laws, looting the consular service, and in the Liliuokalani matter. He will also declare that the action of [illegible] in killing the Wilson bill was the only glimmer of statesmanship manifested by the democrats since they assumed power.

Senator Lodge will present the name of Governor Greenhalge to the convention and move his renomination by acclamation. Ex-Senator Dawes is to present the name of Secretary Olin, of the state department.

Senator Hoar will be chairman of the committee on resolutions and will read the platform, which will contain less than 600 words. It will reiterate well-known republican principles and will make no allusion to the tariff, simply demanding a public school at common charge, free from partism or sectarian control, better immigration and naturalization laws and no distinction of birth or creed in these riots of American citizens.

Greeted the Great Commander's Son.

Des Moines, Ia., October 5.—A son of the "Great Commander," a favorite son of the lamented warrior who led the march from Atlanta to the sea, a grizzled major general of the army, now on the eve of retirement and the governor of two of the most potential states of the union, stood shoulder to shoulder to-day, and crossing the Hawkeye state from the borderland on the Missouri river to the capital in its centre, exchanged words of good cheer with scores of thousands of its citizens. The effective climax came when Colonel Fred Grant was literally pestered by men who wore the blue and compelled to make a race of fourteen miles in order to rejoin his friends and his associates. There was nothing prearranged about the incidents of to-day beyond the fact that the republican state central committee had arranged for a series of meetings to be addressed by Governor McKinley, as a part of the programme of his present trip. When Governor McKinley reached Council Bluffs this morning he found awaiting him a large number of his friends from different parts of the country who had been participating in the annual reunion of the Army of the Tennessee. Among them were General O. O. Howard, U. S. A.; Colonel Fred Grant, Tecumseh Sherman, Major Hoyt Sherman, General G. M. Dodge and a score of others. Nearly the entire number was eastward bound, and after Governor McKinley had addressed the crowd his special car, with that of General Dodge, was attached to the eastbound passenger train and the politicians and the veteran survivors of the Tennessee resumed their fraternal intercourse.

The White Oak's Growth.

Major Jed Hotchkiss of Stanton, Va., who was one of the eminent judges at the World's Fair, has been preparing a report on the forestry exhibit, from which the following interesting fact is learned: In the year 1787 a patent for 10,000 acres of land in the forests of Virginia was surveyed and the usual mark, probably by a big knife, was blazed on the trees. Major Hotchkiss has found five corner trees thus blazed, and has cut off blocks showing the mark made at the time of the survey, and also showing the rings of growth from the point of the original mark, which rings correspond in number with the 107 years which have passed since the patent was surveyed. The average growth in white oak is only about four one-hundredths of an inch a year. Three marks are as sharply defined as the lines where two different kinds of wood are joined, and yet the outside of the tree scarce shows the trace of the mark. In that region there are trees that range in diameter from eighteen inches up to eleven feet, and it is probable from these facts, as revealed by these sections of wood and from careful observations by Dr. Hopkins, of the West Virginia Experiment Station, that some of these trees are over 1,800 years of age.

Coleman-Drayton Case Postponed.

Somerville, N J., Oct. 5.—There is another postponement in the Coleman-Drayton divorce proceedings, as Mr. Shipman, counsel for Mrs. Drayton, has made application to Alvah Clark, Mr. Drayton's lawyer, for an extension of time beyond Oct. 6 in which to file Mrs. Drayton's answer in the bill for divorce. As a matter of professional courtesy Mr. Clark has agreed to extend the time to Nov. 1. This is the second time that Mrs. Drayton's counsel has asked for a postponement in the case. Mr. Shipman expected Mrs. Drayton to arrive from Europe on Oct. 1, and it is thought her failure to arrive at the appointed time is the reason for an extension.

Will be Settled in the Courts.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The vexed questions arising in the wool schedule of the new tariff bill will be finally settled in the courts. This decision was reached by Secretary Carlisle to-day, as the most satisfactory method of disposing of the matter. Until January 1, next, therefore, the position taken by the board of general appraisers at New York, that the McKinley rates of duty obtain on wool and that hair of animals is wool, will be followed by the treasury department in assessing duty on this schedule.

His Lifetime's Saving Stolen.

Burgettstown, Pa., Oct. 5.—A pocketbook was stolen last night from Joseph Matchett, of Candor, which contained $14,000; $6,000 in $100 bills and the balance in checks, notes, etc. The money represented the savings of a lifetime, Matchett is a contracting carpenter. The robbery was committed at the railroad station [illegible] and it is supposed to have been the work of Pittsburg crooks a number of whom were attending the Burgettstown fair.

Wall Paper Trust Beaten.

Hollidaysburg, Pa., Oct. 5.—The wall paper trust, known as the national Wall Paper Company, figured in the Blair county courts to-day as the prosecutor of Lyon & Co., of Altoona, for fraudulent insolvency. The company alleges that the defendants placed orders for $25,000, in New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburg, and, after receiving the merchandise, were sold out by the sheriff on executions in favor of their relatives. The jury acquitted the defendants and the trust was mulcted into the costs.

—Even criminality has its attraction for notoriety. Lock Haven, Williamsport, and a number of other places are trying to get the credit for the arrest of forger J. L. Showers when the fact of the matter is he was arrested on the charge of a Bellefonter. Even in tracking down criminals Bellefonte takes the lead.

Every Day Brings Sad Scene to the Florida Coast.

Key West, Fla., Oct. 5.—Nearly every day fresh information reaches here from the Keys surrounding this place relative to the loss of life in the recent hurricane. On East Matacumbie Key two sailors drifted ashore wearing preservers from the British bark Brandon. The Brandon ran ashore on Crocus Reef at 10 o'clock on the night of September 25, and after pounding over the reef got into the channel and capsized. Another of the crew came ashore the same night. There were seventeen in all on board and these are the only only ones that have been heard from along the shore. Captain William Redford had one leg broken. As soon as the ship struck a reef a Norwegian sailor had both legs crushed. The surviving ones, captain, mate, steward and other of the crew were not drowned as they were all in the cabin when the ship turned bottom up. The shore is full of her pieces of cabin forecasts, houses and three of her boats, all smashed to pieces. The names of the survivors are John T. Warren, Woolwich, England; William Stopforth and Lennart Lax, Finaldin, Russia.

The Norwegian ship Theora was lost off Turtle harbor, but fortunately all hands were saved.

On September 28 Messrs. Sam William and Leonard Lowe found the body of a drowned man on the outside of Tavaness Key. After informing some neighbors of the circumstances they repaired to a place near where the body lay and prepared a grave above the hurricane tide and laid the stranger to rest. The body was much swollen and discolored, having nothing upon it on which would lead to identification.

It is likely that the number of lives lost will never be known as communication with the keys is difficult.

THE most pathetic feature of the cyclone which wrecked the business section of Little Rock was the destruction of the State Insane Asylum. The wrecking of the homes of families whose members are in possession of all their faculties is sad enough, the destruction of the place of refuge of those who are practically helpless, through the loss of their wits, is appalling.

As if the loss of home and shelter was not a sufficient misfortune to the unfortunate inmates of the Arkansas insane asylum, the death of the physician in charge is added to increase the horror of the situation. Without home and shelter and deprived of the guidance and ministrations of a sympathetic and experienced physician, the condition of the inmates of the asylum is pitiable indeed, and appeals to the charitable impulses of all lovers of humanity.

Judge Gaynor Declines.

Brooklyn, Oct. 5.—William J. Gaynor this evening wrote a letter to the Hon. J. W. Hinchley, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, declining the nomination conferred on him by the Democratic party to run on their ticket for Judge of the Court of Appeals.

In his letter Mr. Gaynor says: "The reasons which I publicly assigned for not wishing to become the nominee for Governor preclude me from accepting another place on the ticket, as may be seen by recurring to them, and I am therefore constrained to decline the nomination for Judge of the Court of Appeals, as grateful as I feel for it, and as much as I should like to hold a place of so much usefulness.

"If I thought the withdrawal of my name would injure Senator Hill's canvass I would try to see some way to allow it to remain, for his recent development in the national Senate places him with the foremost public men of his day. Between him and his opponent, he should, and I trust, will, prevail."

Practicing a Lottery Scheme.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Ex-Governor John T. Beveridge, of Illinois; F. D. Arnold and S. M. Biddison were prisoners in United States Commissioner Hoyne's court this afternoon, charged with violating the postal laws by practicing a lottery scheme through the mails. The men are the president, vice president and secretary treasurer, respectively, of the Mutual Life Insurance company, which is alleged to be a mere imitation in its methods of the late Guarantee Investment company, which lately had trouble with the authorities.

Mr. Biddison, however, denies that this is the case, and claims that his company contains no lottery element. All the parties to the case gave bail and were released. Ex-Governor Beveridge was allowed to go on his own recognizance. Mr. Biddison gave bail in the sum of $6,000 and Mr. Arnold $3,000.

Prohibition has evidently not worked well the past year in Potter county, if one is to judge by reading the court proceedings of that county, last week. There were over a dozen suits instituted against its residents for illegal liquor selling. And there is naturally quite an effort going on among the people to elect Owen G. Metzgar to the next legislature, who has pledged himself to introduce a bill for the repeal of the local Prohibitory law, which has been in force the last forty years. The Potter Enterprise says: "It is not a question of prohibition, because we are surrounded on all sides by license counties. There are wine and beer makers within our own borders. There are pigs ears, dens, dives, drug-stores and plenty of other places where liquor can be had in Potter county and there are perhaps one hundred men who are constantly traveling the county with satchels and trunks filled with pints of poor whiskey. Every man, woman and child in Potter county knows that our prohibitory law is a failure."

Harlan For President.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The prominence of the labor question in politics attracts wide attention to Judge Harlan's decision modifying Judge Jenkin's famous strike injunction and somebody has started a boom for his nomination to the Presidency in 1896. His platform, according to his admirers, would be recognition of the right of railroad employes and other laboring men to quit work at their own pleasure. His candidacy, it is thought, would express the new crusade of the laboring men for the recognition of their proper attitude to capital. Judge Harlan is a Kentucky Republican appointed to the Supreme Court by President Hayes, and conceded to be a man of great ability and sound judgment.

THE TWILIGHT COTTAGE NO. 15.

This 7 room frame cottage can be built for $2500, the price varying slightly according to locality.

Our readers will be pleased to know that we have secured authority to offer the complete plans and specifications of the "Twilight" Cottage No. 15, on the above terms, 50 cents and the certificate below clipped from this paper.

A set of these plans contains five sheets, each sheet 14x25 inches, blue-printed, such as are used by architects, engineers and builders.

SHEET No. 1 consists of views of front elevation, and prospective.

SHEET No. 2 consists of side elevation and interior sectional views.

SHEET No. 3 illustrates different floor plans.

SHEET No. 4 shows various details, sections of porch, door frame, window frame, stairs, etc.

SHEET No. 5 covers full specifications, itemized estimate of cost of all materials used, cost of labor, with full particulars and advice regarding division of cost of various lines of materials, instructions and suggestions to builder, etc.

Any one interested in a cheaper cottage can use the certificate to cover the "Pansy" Cottage No. 12, "Rosebud" Cottage No. 20 or "Evergreen" Cottage No. 22, shown below, the plans for which are fully as complete and elaborate. These are engraved on fine bond paper, and will be supplied by the REPUBLICAN on same conditions. Two plans will be sent postpaid for $1.00 and two certificates from this paper, three plans $1.50 and three certificates, or all four plans for $2.00 and four certificates.

☞ This Certificate when accompanied with 50 cents will entitle holder to a full and complete set of Plans with specifications of either of the following cottages:

PANSY	Cottage No. 12.
TWILIGHT	" No. 15
ROSEBUD	" No. 20
EVERGREEN	" No. 22

All plans are under the supervision of the UNIVERSAL PLAN COMPANY; they are drawn to a scale and are mechanically correct and guaranteed ready to Build from—everything that can be furnished by a competent architect being provided for. They are neatly wrapped in pasteboard tube and sent postpaid to any address on above terms.

An architect would require upwards of $25.00 for furnishing plans with all the details given in ours and readers of the REPUBLICAN are thus afforded an opportunity seldom offered. Every one is interested in building to some extent and with the valuable fund of information given at a minimum cost you should not hesitate to take advantage of this offer. Send all orders direct to the REPUBLICAN office, Bellefonte, Pa.

The Latest Swindle.

Hard times are putting sleek rascals at their wits ends to swindle the people Down in Lehigh county one of these rascals purchased potatoes from farmers giving checks in payment on a bank in Camden, N. J. The farmers telegraphed the bank, and found the buyer had a deposit at the bank. Eleven farmers sold him 740 bushels, took checks for payment, and in due time the checks were returned marked "Not sufficient funds."

Farmers in this section should beware of sharpers, who may be out among them buying apples, potatoes buckwheat, hay, etc. A hard winter is before us, and men who would rather swindle than work will be desperate. Don't get caught.

The Official Ballot.

All the certificates of nomination of the regular parties have been received at the State Department at Harrisburg. It is believed that the official ballot will contain at least seven columns, and probably more. The "Independent Republican" party has filed nomination papers containing the regular Republican State ticket, but with other district nominations. Many papers have been cast aside as defective, and others were referred back for correction by the State Department.

HASTINGS' TOUR.

How the People Assemble to Meet and Hear Him Talk.

The following letter has been received from Charles E. Dorworth, who is with the Hastings party now campaigning the state, and as it is unusually interesting in showing how the people feel throughout the State, we publish it in full:

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 3. 1894.

MR. EDITOR.

After almost three weeks of continuous ovations, General Hastings and his colleagues on the Republican ticket in his Gubernatorial campaign tour, are quartered at the hotel Wellington, one of the finest hostelries in the city and soon will be tendered another ovation by the citizens of this county. Every place the General and his associates have visited they have been extended a most enthusiastic greeting. Every place in which meetings are held the towns are gayly decorated; and so far, the different places of meeting have not been large enough to hold the large crowds that continually turn out to hear the "Next Governor" speak, hundreds being turned away every night.

A noticeable feature of this campaign is that in Democratic as well as Republican counties the enthusiasm displayed by the people is the same. At several places they were compelled to hold two meetings. Such was the case in Bradford, Bloomsburg and other places. At Bloomsburg, the county seat of Columbia, one of the strongest Democratic counties in the state, two of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings were held that night that have been held there since the war.

At Chambersburg, the interest and enthusiasm of the people knew no bounds; the town was fairly wild, the streets were crowded—people coming from miles around to see and shake hands with "Our Dan," as he is called upon all sides. The General has hardly a moment to himself, either to eat or sleep, owing to the crowds that are constantly around him. But although the crowds are large, even though the hour be late, every one is given a warm reception.

Very frequently at the different meetings can be seen sprinkled here and there in the audiences some of the most prominent women in the state which shows that even the fair sex of the country are up in arms against the present form of Democratic Government.

To-night, notwithstanding the continuous downpouring of the rain, the streets were crowded and the court house (the place of meeting) was filled to its utmost capacity. The famous Indian band headed the procession, which marched from the hotel to the court house, and rendered some very fine music. This band is composed of students of the Indian school which is located here and are much more civilized than one would imagine. At the meeting 500 students of Dickinson college were in attendance to do honor to General Hastings, who is a trustee of that institution, and an incorporator of the Law school connected with the college. The party at present is composed of the following well known speakers: General D. H. Hastings, General James W. Latta, Hon. Charles F. Warwick, city solicitor of Philadelphia; Col. George F. Huff, one of the next Congressmen-at-large; Congressman, W. A. Stone, Hon. T. J. Stewart, Hon. Geo. B. Orlady and E. R. Semple, General Hasting's private secretary.

How Steamship Tells.

Reports are beginning to come in from which fairly accurate notions of the battle of Yalu may derived. As anticipated, everything tends to confirm the theory that it was superior steamship that enabled the Japanese to claim a victory. And though they were in a sense beaten off, a virtual victory it was. They appear to have found the Chinese hugging the shore and short of coal. The meeting was unexpected on both sides, and the Japs gallantly dashed in, inflicted as much damage as possible, and then steamed away, leaving their adversaries crippled.

But the Chinese had been crippled to begin with by being duffers. Take the British naval officer's account of the action between the Naniwa, a protected cruiser, and the Chen Yuen, an armored battleship. The Naniwa's guns did terrible execution, but it is evident that she need never have been allowed to come within range, for she was finally driven off by three shots from one of the Chem Yuen's four-ton guns. Apparently the Chinese ship's four thirty-seven-ton guns had been so poorly served as to be useless.

Such an encounter does not prove that cruisers can safely attack armored ships when steamship is equal, any more than in the old days frigates could close with battleships. True, the shattering of the Chen Yuen's conning tower by a shell shows how vulnerable the modern monster is in its vital parts. Yet good gunnery was always efficacious. The Hornet made a sinking hulk out of the Peacock in eleven minutes; and while the disabling of an engine or of steam steering gear is a deadly blow, what of the loss of a mainmast?

Hicks' October Weather.

The month comes in fair and cool. By the 2nd and 3rd it will reach into warmer with scattering autumnal storms. As the wind shifts to west look for frost in north. From 6th to 9th look for a storm period, preceded as usual, by beautiful, warm days, ending in severe gales, the lakes especially. Cool to cold days and nights will come after, up to the 13th and 14th. Then warm again with more storms, followed by cold and frost. From 18th to 23rd is the Venus and Mercury storm period, with perhaps some snow. Equinox of Mercury on 26th and of Venus on 31st will intensify storms then due, added to by new moon on the 28th. Gales on land and sea can then be looked for. Bad weather will run into November from the 28th of this month, accompanied by a full-fledged north pole wave.

The regular quarterly meeting was held at the Centre Hall hotel on Tuesday. Horace H. Herring was elected a director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his father, S. G. Herring; H. E. Duck, of Millheim, was elected vice-president for the vacancy caused by the death of S. G. Herring, who held the position for over a dozen years.

The number of applications for insurance was unusually large, showing the increased confidence of the people in the company. The amount of insurances taken at the meeting was $114,384.

A New Rule.

State College, Pa., Oct. 4.—The faculty of the Pennsylvania State College has passed the following rule. "The football team playing under the name of this college shall consist of students in good and regular standing in the institution, provided, that the regular college trainer shall be permitted to play with the team, the fact being known and agreed to by their opponents." Also, "Within twenty-four hours before leaving to engage in any game, each man shall obtain a certificate from each teacher under whom he has work that he has a standing above 65 in such subject for the term and has no condition in any subject." Under the first rule, the following men are eligible to play on the team: Harris '95; Fisher, '96 Thompson, '96; Dunsmore, J. C. '96; Scott, '96; Curtin, '96; Mechesney, '97; Rawn, '98; Williams, '97; Atherton, post graduate. The next game is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 10, at State College, with Gettysburg.

Only Three on Deck.

Of all the citizens who voted at Bellefonte in 1836, only three are yet living, and now venerable in years and crowned with an honorable life; these are Hon. Samuel Gilliland, of Oak Hall; Hon. S. T. Shugart and E. C. Humes, president First National bank of Bellefonte. Their ages are from 80 to 84.

These three gentlemen deserve to occupy a conspicuous seat at Bellefonte's centennial next summer, if they are spared so long, which we fondly hope. They might have some interesting reminiscences, suited to the festive occasion.

Shot a Deer.

On Monday a party of about a half dozen hunters from Pleasant Gap, went to the seven mountains for a deer hunt. Mr. John Homer, one of the best shots in the county, was with the party and while taking a rest at a crossing he fell into a nap. A noise awakened him that proved to be a fine doe approaching. His unerring aim brought it down and it was a fine animal. This is the first deer reported killed for the season.

VIGOROUS HEALTH for MEN

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1873, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to those that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out, and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.

SHAPE & SIZE OF ORIGINAL PASTILLE

These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

All communications confidential and should be addressed to

Weekly Financial Review.

NEW YORK, Oct 6, 1894.

During the past week, Wall Street has shown no new features of interest. Speculation continues to centre largely in the industrials, being encouraged by the unsettled condition of the finances of certain of the trusts, while railroad shares have been comparatively neglected. The class of large operators remain comparatively passive, and show no objection to the "bears" disporting themselves in making petty raids, first because their attacks make little impression, and next because any fall in prices they may effect only affords an opportunity for advantageous buying, which the "bulls" seem quite ready to turn to account.

Although there is at present nothing out of which to make a really active market, yet in certain important respects the position amounts to a "bull" situation. For, although the business of the railroads has not yet returned to its usual volume, yet it is still recovering and there is a large volume of freight in prospect for the coming months, and the range of prices is low enough to amply set off the current relatively low earnings. Besides, the amount of floating stock on the market is very exceptionally light. This is remarked by the banks, who are receiving an unusually large proportion of bonds in their collaterals (perhaps as a set off against rattle-trap industrials), and a much smaller ratio of railroad stocks The same fact is apparent from the difficulty experienced by the "bears" in borrowing stocks and the frequent squeezes to which they are submitted. This scarcity is naturally an element of strength; and still more so is the extraordinary facility with which money can be borrowed on time. Moreover, there is nothing in sight to suggest an early change from this abundance of money. These factors favor the "bulls" as against the "bears;" and it would not be surprising if the latter soon changed sides, so as to produce a range of prices on which they could sell to better purpose.

Pending the dullness of the local market, there is more than usual interest in the disposition shown towards our securities at the foreign centres. Abroad, the excessive ease in money is encouraging to speculative transactions, and prices, though already high for the class of investments, are steadily rising. In London the speculative spirit is encouraging the launching of new corporate undertakings. The amount of new "capital applications" average over £1,000,000 per week, and for the first nine months of the year aggregated close upon £50,000, against £33,000,000 for the same months of 1893. This, it is true, is much below the usual rate of new London issues; but it shows a quite distinct revival of enterprise and investment. The home trade of England also exhibits a reviving tone, with a strengthening tendency in prices. The marked recovery of confidence throughout Europe in the maintenance of pacific international policies seems to be somewhat checked by the reported serious condition of the Czar's health but it is not easy to see why that should not rather benefit New World investments than otherwise. Judging from the tone of the London press, the feeling of distrust towards American securities, occasioned by the current numerous railroad receiverships, has begun to abate. There is more disposition to buy our securities, but transactions show a preference for the better class of stocks and for bonds. As the traffic of our roads improves and our general trade recovers, this movement may easily extend to the more active shares and become the basis of something like the former speculative movement between New York and London. The present unsettled condition of politics in this country no doubt has some effect upon those of our investments which rank below the position of absolute security; but the history of our legislation affords so many evidences of a common-sense result coming out of erratic ferments of public opinion, that London financiers should know how to take our present currents of political sentiment at their true value.

The recovery of trade following the passage of the Tariff Act appears to have exhausted its first effects on Wall Street. The two months of active distribution of merchandise has sufficed to meet the immediate wants of the retail trade, and there is consequently a curtailment of the demand at wholesale and an interval of waiting until the usual second demand for replenishing stocks appears. There appears, however, to be no real reason for doubting that this second half of the season will prove reasonably satisfactory. The retailers themselves were the best judges of what amount of goods they could dispose of, and it is reasonable to suppose that, liberal though their purchases have been, they have taken no more than their customers will want during the first and more active half of the season; and, assuming that it may be allowable to hope for a fair renewal of demand during the later period of the season. Wholesale dealers however are making conservative estimates upon this late demand, and are pursuing a tentative course in their contracts with the manufacturers. They are likely to follow a like policy in respect to orders for the next season's business; which is no more than would be dictated by sound business policy. Indeed, there is nowhere any disposition to discount the future from the standpoint of sanguine expectations. A continued gradual recovery of business through 1895 is counted upon, but no early "boom" is generally anticipated. The imports of merchandise show a large increase, being for the last week of September $10,200,000, against $6,200,000 for the same time of 1893. This may be regarded as partly the effect of the revival of business, and partly a reaction from the holding back of goods in anticipation of the new duties. The movement is therefore not to be regarded as in any way excessive. HENRY CLEWS.

Personally Conducted Tours to the South via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The success of the two regular tours to the South via the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's lines has led that company to arrange for another personally conducted tour from New York and Philadelphia, on October 16, including Gettysburg, Blue Ridge, Luray, Basic, Natural Bridge Grottoes of the Shenandoah, Richmond, and Washington.

The members of the party will travel in special trains of parlor cars provided exclusively for their use. The entire round trip covers a period of nine days, and excursion tickets, including all necessary expenses during that time, will be sold from New York at $55 and Philadelphia $53.

For itineraries containing complete information as to routes, special train service, descriptive notes, &., apply to or address Tourist Agent, 1196 Broadway N. Y., or Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.

Life or Death?

It is of vital importance that it should be understood by persons whose kidneys are inactive, that this condition of things is finally inductive of a state of the organs where life hangs in the balance. Bright's disease, diabetis, albuminuria are all diseases of a very obstinate character in mature stage, and all have a fatal tendency. They often baffle the most practiced medical skill, and the most approved remedies of materia medica. But opposed at the outset- that is to say, when the kidneys begin to discharge their functions inactively-with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the dangerous tendency is checked. Very useful, also is this household medicine for those ailments of common occurrence—constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia and nervousness. It is a safeguard against malaria and averts chronic rheumatism.

Home and Country (New York), for October, contains many well-written and beautifully illustrated articles.

Among them, is one of absorbing interest written by Judge T. J. Mackey, entitled "A True Tale of the Old South, The Doomed Slave." It tells the story of a chain of circumstantial evidence woven so complete that it bore heavily against a poor slave, who was tried and convicted of the murder of his master, and stood within the shadow of the gallows, being saved therefrom only by the efforts of the "faithful even unto death" counsel, who defended him on his trial, and through whom and some well-trained bloodhounds the real culprit was tracked to his lair, captured, tried, convicted, and finally executed.

Hood's Saved My Life

I Can Honestly Say This

"For years I was in a very serious condition with catarrh of the stomach, bowels and bladder. I suffered intensely from dyspepsia, and in fact was a miserable wreck, merely a skeleton. I seemed to go from bad to worse. I really wished I was dead. I had no rest day or night. I did not know what to do. I had taken so much medicine of the wrong kind that it had poisoned me, and my finger nails began to turn black and come off. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I had faith in the medicine, and it did more for me than all prescriptions. I have gradually regained perfect health, am entirely free from catarrh of the bowels, and pain in my back. My recovery is simply marvelous." W. R. YOUNG, Potter's Mills, Pa.

A PLUCKY WOMAN

And What She Was Able To Accomplish.

SHE AND HER DAUGHTER HAVE A REMARKABLE EXPERIENCE.

She Was a Hard Working Person and This Will Interest All Workers.

All kinds of diseases and weaknesses leave their marks on the system. It is very easy for the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys to become deranged, and when they do, the person soon feels tired, languid, weak, low-spirited and gloomy.

The nerves become weak, and insanity or paralysis may follow. The blood gets bad, there is coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, constipation, the complexion grows sallow and life looks dark. All persons complaining of any of these troubles will read with wonder the following letter from Mrs. James Roake, a well-known lady living at 145 Washington Street Peekskill, N. Y.:

"About fifteen years ago I was taken very sick. After seven months I got over that, but have never been well since. I have suffered terribly with pains in the chest, back, kidneys and head. There was a disagreeable feeling in the eyes and I would be very sick in the morning.

"My mind was always gloomy and I felt very low spirited. I had terrible numb spells and would have to be rubbed some time before I could get around. Some of these numb spells were so severe my friends thought I would not recover from them.

"I tried doctors and medicines but got no better. Finally I began the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, as my husband had been most miraculously cured by it. After using it a short time there was a remarkable improvement.

MRS. JAMES ROAKE.

"I continued to steadily gain in every respect until I was cured of all these terrible ailings. This wonderful medicine had now cured my husband and myself of the most fearful suffering, but this was not all. I now want to tell about my little girl.

"She has never been well since she was born. No doctors have known just what ailed her. She was out of her mind most of the time and had constant pain in her side. She has had spasms continually, from six to seven a month.

"She is the smallest child for her age that can be found. All medicines could do nothing for her until I gave her Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and then she was cured in a short time. I cannot say enough in praise of this wonderful medicine, it has done so much for me and my family. I heartily advise everybody to take it."

If you have any of these complaints or for any reason don't feel just as well as you want to, take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and you will be made well and strong. It positively cures all such complaints.

All physicians recommend it, as it is the discovery and prescription of the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th Street, New York City. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

The SOCIAL ECONOMIST opens with an article by its editor on English roads and London streets, which after riding over for two months he pronounces to be the one thing in which England excels America. "Gayety Over Hard Times" stands out like Leonidas at Thermopylae against the hypocrisy of the Evening Post's effort to argue that there has been anything in the passage of the tariff bill to make times better. "De Foe and Malthus" compares the author of "Robison Crusoe" with the author of the Malthusian doctrine, in a way that enrolls the former among political econimists as the first demonstrator of the proposition that population creates its means of subsistance, and that with a population of one the support of life verges upon a miracle. "Shouting Prosperity In?" holds that the efforts of the free-trade journals to get up a business boom by concerted and unanimous lying can only make the real absence of prosperity more obvious.

"Tendencies of Trade Unions" maintains their utility and value to society.

President De Garmo of Swarthmore College discusses "The Future of Economic Education" as the culmination toward which the classical and mathematical courses lead.

Ex-Commissioner Bates adds his personal experience to that of those who have favored the eight-hour day.

The Editorial Crucible, Cream of the Magizines and the review of Kidd's "Social Evolution" in Among the Books present a pithy summary of the current of economic thought.

How She Became a Missionary.

"I'm doing missionary work a good deal of the time," was the reply of one of the most charming women of New York, to a friend, who asked how she busied herself. "I see by your looks you wonder what I mean by that. I'll tell you. A few years ago life was a burden to me. I had been a victim to female weakness of the most aggravated character for a long time, and the doctors failed to help me. Existence was a long steady, terrible torture—a living lingering death. One day I saw Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advertised in the newspaper. Something in the advertisement impressed me favorably. I caught at the glimmer of hope it held out as the drowning man is sain to catch at a straw. Still, I did not dare to hope. But I got the medicine, and behold the result! I feel so well, so strong, and O, so thankful that I go about telling other women what saved me. In no other way can I so well show my gratitude to God, and to the man who has proved such a benefactor of women, and my love for my suffering sisterhood".

Willing to Arbitrate.

Hon. S. Woods Caldwell, of Lock Haven, has sent a letter to Hon. Matt Savage, of Clearfield, (both gentlemen claiming the democratic nomination for State Senator in this district), proposing to arbitrate the question as to which one shall be the candidate. The letter is as follows:

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Oct. 3, 1894.

Matthew Savage, Esq., Clearfield, Pa.:

MY DEAR SIR:—On account of the deplorable condition of this senatorial district I consider it the duty of every true Democrat to tower above personal ambition and join in an amicable settlement.

I therefore make the following proposition: That a representative democrat be selected by you, and one selected by the chairman of the Clinton county committee, and a third selected by the two thus chosen, all of whom shall reside outside the senatorial district, to act as arbitrators to decide whether you or I shall be placed regularly on the Democratic ticket for the ensuing election, thus saving a democratic senator. Their decision to be final and binding after a statement of facts before the said arbitrators by each of us.

Respectfully,

S. WOODS CALDWELL.

A MEMBER of the House of Commons, Hon. Florence O'Driscoll, has written two papers for The Century embodying the result of his travels in China. He is a close observer, and presents pictures of Oriental life that are strange to Western readers. The first paper, which will be printed in the November number of the magazine, describes the city of Canton and how the Chinese work and live. The peculiar sights of the markets, the strange wares displayed in the shops, and the various trades of the craftsmen are all set forth. The second paper will treat of life on the river, made particularly timely by the recent disastrous fire among the flower boats that destroyed thousands of lives.

Around the World in Eighty Days.

Did Jules Verne ever think that his imaginary Phileas Fogg would be eclipsed by an American girl, who once made the circuit in less than seventy-three days? But Phileas had to take "second money." The fame of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has gone around the world long ago, and left its record everywhere as a precious boon to every nation. In the whole world of medicine, nothing equals it for the cure of scrofula of the lungs (which is Consumption). Coughs and bronchial troubles succumb to this remedy, and the ploood is purified by it, until all unsightly skin blotches are driven away. Don't be skeptical, as this medicine is guaranteed to every purchaser. You only pay for the good you get.

For the first time in his literary career Jerome K. Jerome is about to write directly for an American audience. This work consists of a series of papers similar in vein to his "Idle Thoughts of an Idle Fellow," but addressed to American girls and women. The articles will begin shortly in The Ladies Home Journal, which periodical will print the entire series.

A Wonderful Conqueror.

No disease is more common among the people than scrofula. Handed down from generation to generation, it is found in nearly every family, in some form. It may make its appearance in dreadful running sores, in swellings in the neck or goitre, or in eruptions ofvaried forms. Attacking the mucous membrane it may be known as catarrh, or developing in the lungs it may be, and often is, the prime cause of consumption.

In whatever form scrofula may manifest itself, Hood's Sarsaparilla is its inveterate foe and conqueror. This medicine has such powerful alterative vitalizing effects upon the blood that every trace of impurity is expelled, and the blood is made rich, pure and healthy.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

LUKENBACH—BULLOCK.

A Beautiful Wedding on Wednesday Evening.

On Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock a beautiful wedding ceremony occurred in the Episcopal church, at this place, the contracting parties being Miss Katharine Bullock, of Bellefonte, and Mr. Frank Lukenbach, of Philipsburg. The interior of this handsome church was profusely decorated with ferns and palms.

Prof. Goodwin presided at the pipe organ and as the first notes from Lohengrin's familiar march soun led the wedding party entered from the [illegible] the ushers: James Harris, of Bellefonte, and Harry Green, of Philipsburg; C. E. Turnbach, of Philipsburg, and John Vogt, of Tyrone. Following these were the bridesmaids, Lottie Spiglemeyer and Emma Montgomery. They were attired in white swiss, with point de Irland lace, and white satin ribbon, and carried carnations tied with pink ribbons. Following these came the object of attention, the bride, Miss Katharine Bullock, gracefully leaning upon the arm of her uncle, Mr. C. Frank Montgomery. The bride was attired in cream bengaline, princesseen traine, heavily trimmed in duchess lace, with veil and carrying a bouquet of brides roses.

Her countenance bespoke that joyous expectancy which only a bride can know in this the supreme hour of her life—the nuptial celebration. In bridal attire, she never looked handsomer.

As the wedding party proceeded up the aisle with measured step, the groom, Mr. Frank Lukenbach, accompanied by his best man John E. Fryberger, of Philipsburg, emerged from the vestry followed by Rev. Wright and met the bridal party at the steps, when Mr. Montgomery gave his neice to the groom. Rev. Wright then began the marriage ceremony of the Episcopal church. After the betrothal ceremony was completed the two young people advanced to the altar, and, while kneeling received the blessing. The lively measures of Mendelssohns march was the signal for the completion of the ceremony and the newly married couple passed out by the main aisle. Owing to the social prominence of the parties the church was thronged with the fashionable society of the community. A reception to the immediate friends was given at the residence. The bride and groom departed on the night train. In the course of two weeks they will be at home, at Philipsburg, where Mr. Lukenbach holds a responsible position in the bank.

FOOLED THE SHERIFF.

Robert J. Harvey, Bank Victimizer and Forger, Makes His Escape.

Belair, Md., Oct. 7.—Robert E. Harvey, the clever bank victimizer and forger, recently arrested in Vineland, N. J., where he was masquerading as Horace D. Baker, escaped from the Hartford county jail last night. He was aided by two fellow prisoners who are also missing. Up to a late hour to-night the men had not been apprehended and the sheriff, not knowing which direction to go sits at home discussing the shrewdness of the trio.

Sheriff Hughes locked the jail at eight o'clock last night. An hour later Samuel Kelley, confined in a cell on the second floor, picked the lock of his door and stepped into the corridor. It took but a short time to release his friend Thomas J. Kane, who was confined on the floor below. The two men then went to the second floor and set free the wily band swindler. The trio went into an adjoining cell in which four colored boys who worked in the jail yard slept. While Harvey and Kane covered the boys with their pistols, in which they had in some mysterious way become possessed, Kelley began to pick a hole through the ceiling. The bank victimizer knew the ceiling of his cell was thin, as he had been confined there at one time during his incarnation. By the aid of an old log the men reached the third floor. The hole through which they gained entrance was twelve by seven inches. Having gained this point of vantage, they went to a far window looking out upon the jail garden and sawed two bars, each an inch square. The sheets from the beds of the three prisoners were then torn into long strips. These were tied together making a secure rope, by means of which the men descended in safety to the ground. As soon as they were gone the alarm was given by the badly frightened colored boys.

No one can imagine how the saws and revolvers were obtained unless through Harvey's wife who has been to see him several times. It is supposed that Harvey paid Kelley and Kane to release him and that his wife or someone was outside to assist him to make good his escape. Harvey's case was to have come up in the coming November court when he was to have been tried for swindling the Haverford bank out of $2,000 by means of forged drafts. This was in April last and he was not heard of afterward until the detectives captured him in Vineland, N. J. He appeared to be a man of great piety. His Bible was his almost constant companion.

In his operations Harvey has used a number of aliases, and his swindling operations have been conducted all over the country. He is 37 years old, 5 feet 6½ inches tall, has dark brown hair and gray eyes, weighs 155 pounds, at times wears a dark mustache and Burnside whiskers trimmed closely.

Fosters Predictions.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from 7th to 11th, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 12th, cross the western mountainsiby close of 13th, the great central valleys from 14th to 16th and the eastern states about the 17th. The warm wave will cross the western mountains about the 12th, the great central valleys about the 14th and the eastern states about the 16th. The cool wave will cross the western mountain about the 15th, the great central valleys about the 17th and the eastern states about the 19th. The storm wave following will be of greatest force west of the Mississippi. Hurricanes sometimes occur in the West. Indies in October, and always cause a cold wave to move down the Mississippi and Missouri valleys. They entirely break up the regular weather conditions and cause all forecasts to fail. The cause of these hurricanes and the consequent cold waves may yet be discovered, but the only present possibility of giving warning of them is by extending observations eastward from the West Indies and giving warning of these October cold waves in time to be of benefit to the northwestern states.

Electricity on the Farm.

It is believed that the time will come—indeed, that it is not far off—when many, if not all, the leading operations on the farm will be done by contract by means of the extended use of electricity, and that in this way the question of labor, which has for many years embarassed the farmer, will be solved. With plows, reapers, and road wagons run by electricity and water driven to available points by the same force where now it cannot be had at all, the farmer will not be so badly off, after all. While the things he produces may not bring as much money in the market as formerly, the cost of production will be so materially reduced that the net profits will be the same or greater. When the rapid expansion of the use of electricity within a few years is considered, this can hardly be regarded as chimerical. Men are at work on the problem now it is claimed by some that it has been already solved.—[Baltimore American.

Attractive Route.

The attention of our patrons is called to the improved facilities for travel offered by the Central Railroad of Penn'a. Passengers for New York City and Philadelphia taking the 8.30 p. m., train from Bellefonte can boord the Buffet Sleeping Car at Mill Hall which reaches Philadelphia at 7.12 a. m., and New York at 9.30 a. m. This service is unsurpassed in point of comfort and convenience and is sure to win its way to favor with the travelling public.

HUNTINGDON PRESBYTERY.

Sermon by Rev. W. H. Decker, of Lewistown—Reports Received.

Reedsville, Pa., October 3.—The Huntingdon presbytery resumed business at 7 o'clock last evening and the church, which seats about 500 people, was crowded. The services of the hour were held in the interest of missions. After prayer by Rev, S. W. Young, of Arch Spring, and the singing of "The Coronation," the Rev. H. H. Henry, of Birmingham, read the twenty-eighth chapter of St. Matthew and Rev. W. H. Decker, of Lewistown, preached a most masterful and inspiring sermon from I Cor. iv:2, "It is required in stewards that a man be found faithful."

The speaker's subject was: "Christian Stewardship Within Denominational Limits."

After this great sermon which deserves to be printed in full, the reports of the committees on home and foreign missions were read.

The Rev. R. F. Wilson, of Lewistown, chairman of the committee on foreign missions presented his report showing that the 75 churches of our presbytery had contributed during the year the sum of $9,475 toward this object, of which sum the women gave $3,895 and the Endeavor societies and Sunday schools $1,359.

Hon. James A. Beaver, in presenting the report of the committee on systematic beneficence, urged in his usual, eloquent manner the need of larger gifts to the various boards of the church. Among other things he stated that "if a few godly women had not died we would be short in our accounts." And again: "If each member of every church in the presbytery gave five cents a week toward the beneficent work of the church, the price of a cigar, our benevolent contributions would amount to $28,000."

After all these reports had been received and ordered to be sent to synod, the presbytery was dismissed with prayer by the Rev. H. G. Furbay, of Tyrone, and with the benediction by the moderator.

Falling off a log.

"As easy as falling of a log," is an old saying. When it was first uttered, nobody knows. Nothing is easier, unless it is the taking of a dose of Dr. Pierce's pleasant Pellets. These act like magic. No griping or drenching follows, as is the case with the old-fashioned pills. The relief that follows resemble the action of Nature in her happiest moods; the impulse given to the dormant liver is of the most salutary kind, and is speedily manifested by the disappearance of all bilious symptoms. Sick headache, wind on the stomach, pain through the right side and shoulder-blade, and yellowness of the skin and eyeballs are speedily remediee by the Pellets.

Savage Files Nomination Papers.

This morning's Harrisburg Patriot says: Matt Savage, of Clearfield, one of the Democratic nominees for the state senate in the Thirty-fourth senatorial district, whose certificate of nomination was ruled out by the Dauphin county court, filed nomination papers last night at the state department. Savage had the papers on Monday to be utilized in the event of an unfavorable decision by the court, and filed them in time to authorize the printing of his name on the official ballot.

S. Woods Caldwell, of Clinton, Savage's Democratic opponent, was in the city yesterday looking up his nomination papers, which were filed on Saturday. Mr. Caldwell expects to make a close canvass of every election precinct in the three counties constituting the district, and is confident of election. P. Gray Meek, of Centre, the Democratic nominee in this district in 1890, carried it by upward of 5,000 majority.

A Cycling Record.

Last Wednesday James Pickle, an employee of McCalmont & Co., started on his bicycle to make a trip to York, Pa., to visit friends. He left Bellefonte at 5.50 o'clock a. m., was at Potters Mills at 7.30, Milroy 8.45, Reedsville 9.25, Yeagertown 9.45, Lewistown 10.20; between Lewistown and Mifflin the roads were in a horrible condition and Pickle was compelled to walk about 9 miles, reaching the latter place at 12.05 where he took dinner. He then started again and reached Mexico at 1.35 p. m., Thompsontown at 2.30, Millerstown at 3.20, and Duncannon at 6.00, the whole distance being about 80 miles. He spent the night in Duncannon going on to York the next day, arriving there at 12.00 o'clock noon.

Success in Life

depends on little things. A Ripans Tabule is a little thing, but taking one occasionally gives good digestion, and that means good blood, and that means good brain and brawn, and that means success.

A NOTABLE GATHERING.

The Presbyterian Synod of Pennsylvania to Meet in Tyrone.

The most distinguished church body that shall have ever convened in Tyrone will meet in thirteenth annual session in the First Presbyterian church of that place next week from Thursday, October 18, until Monday, October 22. This is the Presbyterian Synod of Pennsylvania, which comes with nearly or quite 300 commissioners representing the churches of the twenty-fourth presbyteries which it includes. The records of the church show that it is quite proper that this year the Synod should meet within the bounds of Huntingdon presbytery, and that the Tyrone church first of all should be honored with its presence.

The Synod of Pennsylvania is the largest and most important synod in connection with the Presbyterian church. It has within its bounds 191,738 communicants. The Synod of New York is second, with 174,204 communicants. Last year the Presbyterian church contributed to all of her agencies over $14,000,000. Of this sum the Synod of Pennsylvania gave $3,000,000, or nearly one-fourth of the total amount. Then if we look at the other side of its work we will find that during the same time there were received into full membership upon "Profession of Faith," 15,581 souls, or 5,000 more than in any other synod. In this connection it is interesting to note that Huntingdon presbytery added to her numbers on "Profession of Faith" equal to 10 per cent. of her entire number of communicants, more than any other presbytery, during the same period Pursuing this line of comparison we find that the First Presbyterian church of Tyrone has added more members to her roll during the past year than any other church in Huntingdon presbytery, except Clearfield which counts two mission fields in connection with the mother church. The Tyrone church had 106 additions which is more than was reported for any previous year.

Recurring to the synod, we find that it includes geographically the states of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and the countries of Mexico and Western Africa. In Mexico there are two presbyteries, the City of Mexico and Zacatecas. In the former there are 2,608 communicants; in the latter 1,935. There are other distant lands over which this body has jurisdiction. The presbytery of Western Africa with 349 communicants and 11 ministers bring it immediately in touch with foreign mission work and its results.

Perhaps enough has been said to call attention to the fact that this is one of the most important religious gatherings that convenes any place and that it is a great honor to the First Presbyterian church and to Tyrone to have it at this time.

Y. M. C. A. State Convention.

The Twenty-seventh Annual State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Pennsylvania will meet in Johnstown October 18-21. Gen. James A. Beaver, President of the last Convention, will preside at the opening session. Rev. R. A. Torrey, Superintendent of Moody's Bible Institute, Chicago, will deliver two addresses, and conduct a "Question Hour"

Prominent Business men and Association workers from Philadelphia, Pittsburg, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Williamsport, Harrisburg and Bethlehem, as well as representatives of University of Pennsylvania, Lafayette and Haverford Colleges, will discuss the topics arranged, which cover very important phases of work among the young men of the State.

Delegations are invited from all City and Town, College, and Rail Road Associations, District Sections, and from towns where no Association exists.

A reduced rate of a fare and a third for round trip to Johnstown has been granted by all the roads of the state, and all accredited delegates will be entertained by the Johnstown Association.

Prominent Business men from all sections of the state are members of the State Committee which has in charge this Convention.

The Status of the Bicycle.

We think Director Brown and Attorney Moreland are entirely too hasty in assuming that the owners of bicycles are already subject to the provisions of the ordinance taxing the owners of vehicles, and that an ordinance requiring the payment of a license fee of one dollar would be unconstitutional. The license law classifies vehicles, exacting a higher fee for some than for others, having reference to the use they are put to, the number of horses required to haul them, etc. Now it would be very absurd to say that the bicycle falls within the lowest class, and must be taxed accordingly. It might rank as a two-wheeled vehicle, but certainly not as a one-horse shay. The "horse" cannot be made to cut any figure whatever in the classification.

The act of 1889, which confers upon the owners of bicycles and tricycles the same rights and privileges as are conferred upon the owners of carriages and other vehicles, was certainly not intended to cover the several license ordinances in force throughout the municipalties of the state. It was simply intended to recognize the bicycle as a road vehicle and subject it to the same privileges accorded by law to other conveyances. There are certain regulations, rights and duties—rules of the road—which govern the use and occupancy of the streets and highways, and wheelmen should enjoy whatever of advantage there may be in them, assuming, as a matter of course, the responsibilities which attach to their violation. That, we take it, is all the act of 1889 does or was intended to do. It certainly imposes no tax upon wheels of any kind, nor does it make the slightest reference to existing ordinances requiring the payment of license fees by vehicle owners.

Director Brown has decided that an ordinance taxing bicycles one dollar a year each would be unconstitutional. We do not think so. The constitution requires that taxes shall be uniform on the same class of subjects. Bicycles and tricycles would certainly make a distinct class. They differ from other vehicles in that they dispense with the use of the horse, and that very fact furnishes a valid reason why they should be taxed very lightly, if at all. If the city authorities think the vehicle license ordinances applies, let them try to enforce it. A test case would settle the matter in short order.

The Green Goods Catches.

The Lexow committee exposures have made the green goods swindle both unpopular and dangerous in New York. But the business of roping in the guys who think they can buy $4,000 imitation money which cannot be detected for $400 in good money has not been abandoned, and will not be as long as "guys" with good money and rascally inclinations can be found. For the present the green goods gang that formerly operated in New York are carrying on their business near Perth Amboy, using the Jersey City Post Office as a medium for sending out their gull-catching circulars. They will probably be run out of Perth Amboy now that their new base of operations has become known, but they will easily find a new rendezvous.

"The folly of fools is their destruction," wrote the wise man long ago, and against the folly of the particular combination of fool and knave known in the vernacular of the green goods scoundrels as a "guy," law, courts nor newspapers, nor all combined, can afford any adequate protection. The green goods operators will reach these greedy fools with their lying circulars and the fools will believe the lie and part with their money as soon as they can reach the appointed rendezvous whether it be New York, Perth Amboy or the most lonesome cross-roads post office in the forty-four States.

The Art of Going Without.

Like everything else in this life, poverty whether relative or absolute, can be made a cross or grown, says Elizabeth Stuart, in Outlook. It is all in the way we take it. Who of us has not known homes where the sweet, bright spirit that ruled them has wrought romance out of sodden care and rude denial? In later life, when we look back upon deprivations of our first youth, what is it that we most vividly remember—the things we had, or the things we did not have? An hundred to one, I venture to say, we recall the glory of possession rather than the gloom of denial. The little inventions and plots and plans by which a quick brain and a cheery heart contrived to bridge the black chasm between demand and supply "hold fast all that they gave us" of the sweetest things in character and the bravest things in love.

Children especially, with their light, bird-like views of the facts of daily life are hard to injure and easy to please with the shifts of a wisely managed household economy.

The art of going without may be slowly but it can be brightly learned. It needs due patience. Some pluck, and, doubtless, the proper share of Christian grace and resignation. But it needs something else, if I may say so, just as important and more apt to be overlooked. It needs the more worldly qualities of good spirits, and good sense and inventive ability.

MERCURIAL POISON

Is the result of the usual treatment of blood disorders. The system is filled with Mercury and Potash remedies—more to be dreaded than the disease—and in a short while is in a far worse condition than before. The most common result is for which S. S. S. is the most reliable cure. A few bottles will afford relief where all else has failed.

I suffered from a severe attack of Mercurial Rheumatism, my arms and legs being swollen to more than twice their natural size, causing the most excruciating pains. I spent hundreds of dollars without relief, but after taking a few bottles of S. S. S. I improved rapidly, and am now a well man, completely cured. I can heartily recommend your wonderful medicine to anyone afflicted with this painful disease.

The Golden Star Gold Mining Company

OF MONTANA.

Capital $300,000 divided into 300,000 shares of $1 par value each.

Non-assessable forever.

This company owns two gold mines located in a county which produced $40,000,000 in gold in six years. Has 45 acres of virgin land. Has 500 feet of underground work in shape of shafts and tunnels. Has ore in sight worth $100 per ton. Has assays from $25 to $1,500 per ton. Has shipped ore netting $36 per ton. Has such a small capitalization, only 300,000 shares and not 2,000,000 shares as other companies.

The company intends to sink a shaft through this rich $100 ore vein to a depth of several hundred feet, in order to be able to produce largely for the benefit of the stockholders which will get this profit in large monthly dividends. Hence the company offers a small amount of its stock at the extremely low price of 35 cents a share.

These shares are the investment on the financial market to-day and are better than Government Bonds as they will pay bigger interest.

TAKE STEPS IN TIME.

When your blood is out of order, you can't afford to wait. A slight cold, in this scrofulous condition, is enough to threaten you with Consumption. At the first symptom of any weakness in the lungs, or with any cough that you can't seem to get rid of, you should take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. For Consumption itself, except in the most advanced stages and for all the conditions that lead to it, this is a positive and proved remedy.

Consumption is Lung-Scrofula. You must depend upon the blood for a cure. The "Discovery" reaches it, through the blood, as nothing else can. Not only this, but every form of Scrofula. In Consumption, Weak Lungs, Severe Lingering Coughs, Asthma, and all Bronchial, Throat and Lung Affections, it is guaranteed to benefit or cure, or your money is returned.

IT'S a way so sure that the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Remedy offer, in good faith, $500 for a case of Catarrh which they cannot cure. If it's sure enough for them to make the offer, it's sure enough for you to make the trial. They risk $500. What do you risk?

DELEGATES ELECTED.

What the Huntingdon Presbytery Did at Its Closing Sessions.

Reedsville, Pa., October 3.—The devotional exercises were in charge of the Rev. H. H. Stiles, of Altoona, whose topic—"The Word of God in Daily Life"—was handled masterly in a short and instructive talk.

The examination of Mr. S. H. Welty, who is to accept a call to the pastorate of the Lost Creek church at McAlisterville, was then continued. The Rev. Dr. Laurie, of Bellefonte, as chairman of the examining committee on theology, questioned the candidate closely as to his orthodoxy and his theological lore, and he was found to be well established in the doctrines of the Bible. Following this the examination of the candidate on church government and sacraments was held by Dr. N. A. McDonald and Rev. J. W. Bain, and were sustained.

The organization of a new church at Madera, Clearfield county, with a membership of eighty was reported.

The presbytery then proceeded to the order of the day, which was the election of delegates to the synod of Pennsylvania, which is to be held at Tyrone, beginning October, the 18th.

The following minister delegates were elected to represent presbytery at the synod: Revs. S. M. Moore, D. D., of Tyrone; William Prideaux, of Huntingdon; R. M. Campbell, of Port Royal; H. C. Baskerville, of Centre Hall; W. O. Wright, of Milesburg; R. M. Wallace, of Lewistown; D. V. Mays, of Houtzdale; J. W. Bain, of Altoona; H. G. Furbay, of Tyrone.

The elder delegates were: Messrs. H. W. Jackson, of McAlvey's Fort: F. B. Reed, of Clearfield; G. T. Hamilton, of Altoona; John Clark, of Williamsburg; J. L. Somerville, of Winburn; A. Templeton, of Arch Springs; J. M. Wigton, of Franklinville; T. Conley, of Shellsburg; J. M. Blair, of Blair's Mills.

One of the most interesting and exciting scenes of presbytery was the action upon the report of the permanent committee on temperance. The resolutions were strong and speak with no uncertain sound concerning the relation of the church to the liquor traffic; here are two:

First. That it is the sentiment and conviction of presbytery that total abstinence from all intoxicants as a beverage, is the duty of every Christian and that sessions should as far as possible exercise discipline against the drinking habit.

Second. That the presbytery declares its utter condemnation of the liquor traffic and urges all within its bounds to oppose this traffic by voice and vote, and to pray and labor for its complete destruction.

The Rev. R. M. Campbell, of Port Royal, resigned his chairmanship of this committee.

This closed the morning session and presbytery took a recess until 2 o'clock, when the report of the commissioners to the late general assembly at Saratoga Springs was heard, and it was a short and commendatory review of the assembly's action by Revs. D. H. Campbell, A. R. McKinley, D. D., and George Elliott.

The church of Madera was recommended to the board of Home missions for the amount of $50 for six months and the church of Irvona to the amount of $100 for one year.

The next item of interest was the report of a committee on permanent records, whose chairman, the Rev. H. G. Furbay, presented a series of resolutions instructing the stated clerk to have 500 copies of the minutes of each session printed for distribution. This will obviate the wrangle about the approval of minutes which has characterized the sessions of the presbytery in times past. The Rev. J. E. Giffin accepted a call for one-half of his time to the church at Madera at a salary of $400 per year.

The installation of the pastor will take place on November 9, 1894, at 7 p. m., at which the Rev. R. A. McKinley, D. D., will preside and preach the sermon, the Rev. S. T. Lewis will give the charge to the pastor and the Rev. D. K. Freeman, D. D., the charge to the people.

In the matter of assessment for the various churches for the expenses of the general assembly the Juniata Presbyterian church was assessed $4 for the year.

Hon. James A. Beaver presented a plan for the celebration of the centennial of the Huntingdon presbytery, which will be 100 years old on the second Tuesday of April, 1895. On that day the presbytery will meet at Huntingdon and addresses will be made by the Rev. Dr. Hammill, who will preach the historical sermon. The Rev. J. C. Kelly will speak on "Local History and Biography." D. W. Woods, Esq., of Lewistown, will discuss "The Sources of Presbyterianism in Huntingdon presbytery." The Hon. John Scott, ex-United States senator, late of Alexandria, now of Philadelphia, will deliver an address on "The Influence of Presbyterianism in Central Pennsylvania."

The Rev. Dr. Barron, of Hollidaysburg, will preside at the celebration, which promises to be a great event in the history of the Huntingdon presbytery.

Among the students for the ministry Mr. Samuel Martin, of the Second church of Altoona, was recommended to the board of education for help.

The reports of the various committees on Sunday schools, board of ministerial relief and others were very interesting and full of useful information concerning the work of the churches. The Sunday schools have contributed to the boards more largely during the past year than ever before. Out of the Sunday school 464 were received into full church membership. Of the Sunday schools which have increased their membership by twenty or more, Broad street church of Altoona, stands first with an increase of 57, and Juniata second with an increase of 43.

The committee on bills and overtures made an important report bearing on the question of a pastor's salary, which needs to be emphasized. The circumstances which called out this report concerned the church at Belleville, Mifflin county, which requested presbytery for leave to reduce the pastor's salary. Here are the resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

First, That the request from the congregation for a reduction of the pastor's salary be not granted.

Second, That the congregation be urged to make an earnest effort to comply with the conditions of the call until the next stated meeting of presbytery.

The Rev. H. H. Henry, chairman of the committee on Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, reported as follows: There are seventy-eight societies in the presbytery, including sixteen junior societies, a gain of twenty new societies. The total membership is 3,900, of which 690 are juniors. Of the associate members 282 have become church members. The societies contributed $3,343; of this sum $1,510 went for missions and $1,833 for other benevolent objects.

The remainder of the afternoon session was taken up with the reading of the minutes and at 5 o'clock the presbytery took a recess to reassemble at 7.30. At that hour a large and interested audience had gathered in spite of the storm that raged for full twenty minutes before the time set for service. Mr. Welty, the candidate for licensure as a preacher of the Gospel, then preached a part of a sermon from St. John xv: 8: "Herein is my Father glorified that ye bear much fruit." The sermon was sustained as part of trial and the presbytery after favorably voting upon all his examinations, proceeded to license Er. Welty to the ministry and to place in his hands a call to the Lost Creek church, McAllisterville, at a salary of $700 per year. The incentiate was then ordained by the laying on of hands of presbytery. Dr. William Laurie, of Bellefonte, preached the sermon, Philippians ii: 6-9, which was well received by the large audience. The ordination service being consummated it was decided that Rev. Welty be installed on the last Tuesday of October at 7:30 p. m., in his church at McAllisterville, Rev. Davenport, of Academia, to preach the sermon on that occasion, Rev. J. B. Henderson, of Mifflintown, to charge the pastor, and Rev. R. M. Campbell, of Port Royal, to charge the people.

As the presbytery was drawing to its close and all felt that the good people of Reedsville had done their utmost to make its stay pleasant and enjoyable, the following resolutions were offered by Rev. Emil Lewy and adopted:

Resolved, That the presbytery record its grateful acknowledgment of the enjoyment afforded by meeting in the beautiful and comfortable building of the Reedsville church, for the kindness and hospitality of the people who have entertained us and made our stay among them so pleasant and enjoyable.

Resolved, That the the thanks of the presbytery be extended to the pastor of this church for his successful provision for the convenience and comfort of the presbytery; to the choir of the church for the enrichment of the services by their beautiful selections of song; to the ladies of the church for the manifestation of their interest by the floral decorations of the pulpit.

Now the time had come for the final adjournment of the session, and with prayer and benediction the presbytery was dismissed, to meet again in regular meeting on the second Monday evening in April, 1895, at the church at Huntingdon.

The Patriarch of South Mountain.

The Chambersburg Valley Spirit says: Tuesday evening of last week the patriarch of the South mountain, David W. Williard, died from a general breaking down, due to old age and an attack of grip last winter. He was aged 75 years, 2 months and 29 days. Mr. Williard was the owner of the Williard Springs, at Blue Ridge summit, a very pleasant little resort, developed out of the old homestead where he was bred and born and lived all his life. The original house was the oldest on the mountain and that and the Fitz house nearby were the only ones at the summit when the Western Maryland railroad was built more than twenty years ago. He was perhaps the oldest native resident of the mountain.

Potter County's Wild Man.

The "Wild Man," which was said to have been at large in the forests of Potter county, was exhibited at the Westfield Fair last week. He was taken to the fair by two prominent gentlemen of Trout Run, this county. It is said by one who saw him, that he resembled an ordinary man, with the exception that his whole body was covered with long black hair. He was securely chained and hand-cuffed and when people entered the tent where he was being exhibited, he would growl like a wild beast and make all sorts of curious sounds. After being on exhibition for two days it was discovered that this would be wild man, was nothing more than an ordinary man, clothed in buffalo robes. His name is said to be Hicks, and that he resides at Tamarack.

—The state medical council met yesterday at the department of internal affairs at Harrisburg, and prepared the questions for the semi-annual examinations, on October 16-19, of applicants for licenses to practice medicine and surgery in Pennsylvania. The allopathic and homœpathic examinations will be conducted at Philadelphia, the former at the school of industrial art, Broad and Pine streets, and the latter at the Odd Fellows' hall, Broad and Spring Garden streets, and the eclectic at Armory hall Tyrone. A large number of young physicians have made application to undergo examination.

Damages for a Life.

The case of Mrs. Mary Sharrer against the Philadelphia and Reading railroad company for damages that was tried in the Lycoming county courts this week and the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $3,224. Ellet Sharrer the husband of the plaintiff, was run over and killed at the Pine street station, Williamsport, in July, 1893, while attempting to board a moving train. It was said at the time that Sharrer had been pushed off by the brakeman from Shamokin, and this was the main point of the plaintiff's case, she seeking damages to compensate her for her pecuniary loss.

A Thundering Decision.

And now the scientists have broken loose again and disproved the popular belief that thunder sours milk. They say that the atmospheric conditions at the time of a thunder storm, and not the thunder itself, are what make the milk turn sour. Well, if it sours during a storm, it doesn't make a thundering sight of difference whether it is done by the thunder or the atmosphere.—Franklin News. The thunder it doesn't! What's the use of all this scientific research if the whole business is going to be thus lightly tossed to the winds?—Forest Republican. Thunderation, what a revelation to man!

One Hundred Years Ago.

One hundred years ago Wednesday Geo Washington, the first president of the United States, was in Harrisburg and was entertained at a public reception given in his honor. A trip to Harrisburg in those days was the event of a lifetime almost, as travel was entirely by the slow going stage coach.

A WOMAN'S POWER.

IT IS THE GREATEST ON EARTH.

It Establishes Thrones and Destroys Nations.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

The influence of women upon the civilization of the world could never be measured.

The flash of her eye, the touch of her hand, and we have the marvelous power of women, glorious in the possession of perfect physical health.

Lydia E. Pinkham, by her wonderful discovery of the Vegetable Compound has done much to place this great health power in the hands of women. She has lifted them out of the misery brought by displacement of the womb, and all the evils that follow diseased uterus.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restores natural cheerfulness, destroys despondency, cures leucorrhœa, backache, strengthens the muscles, restores the womb to its normal condition, regulates menstruation, removes inflammation, ulceration, and tumors of the womb, etc.

Here are two women who speak from experience, and for the benefit of others.

Miss Helen Smith, 43 22d Place, Chicago, Ill., says:—"I was troubled with irregularity and leucorrhœa. I followed Mrs. Pinkham's advice, took her Vegetable Compound, and used her Sanative Wash. I now feel like a new woman, and am perfectly healthy."

Mrs. E. Fox, Woodstown, N. J., writes:—"I had been sick 10 years with womb trouble and leucorrhœa. Doctors could not help me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did. Employment of any kind does not trouble me now, and I can stand nearly all day and not feel tired. I cannot thank you enough. I recommend the Compound to every woman who has any weakness."

Locals in a Line.

—There will be held in the rectory next the Episcopal church this Thursdaye evening a pound festival. Everyone is invited to be present and not to forget to take a pound of something along.

—John Boreman, of Tyrone, the brakeman who had his arm crushed at Milesburg on Wednesday, had the member amputated near the shoulder at the Altoona hospital the same afternoon. Mr. Boreman was a single man and aged but 26 years.

—Everybody is welcome in an editor's office and should make themselves at home. Walk right in and sit down in the editor's chair and put your feet upon the desk and spit tobacco juice over the floor and fumble over the exchanges and smoke cheap cigars and throw matches in the waste basket, and don't fail to read all the proofs that have been taken or to occasionally read copy over the writer's shoulder. All are evidences of good manners (?)

—The overseers of the poor in Williamsport have prepared a notice which will be sent to every saloon in the city, or to hotel keepers, or dealers in malt, spiritous or vinous liquors, warning such keepers or their employes not to sell, give or furnish liquor to certain persons whose names appear in the notices, who are men of known intemperate habits, and whose families are constantly applying to the poor board for relief. If this warning is disregarded the help of the law will be invoked.

—Messrs. A. J. Graham, W. E. Irwin and Charles E. Sharpless, engineer, representing Centre county, and Messrs. James McLaughlin, Thomas Slinger and J. W. Stephenson, engineer, representing Clearfield county, were the viewers appointed to decide whether a county bridge is needed to cross the Moshannon creek on Presqueisle street, in the borough of Philipsburg. They met Tuesday and made a favorable report for a new bridge. The Electric Street Railway Co., has offered $2,000 of the amount to have the bridge made wide enough to carry its tracks.

Conference of Bishop and Elders.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 3—Bishop Sanford, of Harrisburg, and Hamun, of Reading, and the presiding elders and a number of clergymen representing the minority of the Evangelical church, held a long conference here to-day, with their attorneys, Messrs. Baer and Snyder. Later a business meeting was held in Salem Evangelical church. It was decided to hold to a conference of the minority in this city on Wednesday next, when it is probable steps will be taken looking to reorganization. It is the purpose of the minority to keep the membership intact, but to vacate the churches they now occupy. The trustees of the Schuylkill seminary, at Fredericksburg, Lebanon county, say they feel certain of an ejectment sooner or later, but will not vacate the college for the present.

Goodenough-Kitzmiller.

The marriage last Thursday evening of Mr. George A. Goodenough, of Scranton, to Mrs. Lizzie Kitzmiller, formerly of Williamsport was a very pretty but quiet affair. The ceremony was performed at the St. Lukes Episcopal church, Scranton, Pa., by the Rev. Israel. Mrs. Kitzmiller was the wife of a former telephone superintendent, of Bellefonte, and is well known to many of our people.

Flag Raising.

Tussey Council, No. 515, Junior O. U. A. M., of Pine Grove Mills, will raise a flag over the academy building at that place, on Saturday, Oct. 13. A grand parade composed of Junior Mechanics, Odd Fellows and P. O. S. of A. will be an interesting feature. An elaborate program has been prepared for the occasion.

A YOUNG GIRL'S FORTUNE.

AN INTERESTING SKETCH.

Nothing appeals so strongly to a mother's affection as her daughter just budding into womanhood. Following is an instance: "Our daughter, Blanche, now 15 years of age, had been terribly afflicted with nervousness, and had lost the entire use of her right arm. She was in such a condition that we had to keep her from school and abandon her music lessons. In fact, we feared St. Vitus dance, and are positive but for an invaluable remedy she would have had that terrible affliction. We had employed physicians, but she received no benefit from them. The first of last August she weighed but 75 pounds, and although she has taken only three bottles of Nervine she now weighs 106 pounds; her nervousness and symptoms of St. Vitus dance are entirely gone, she attends school regularly, and studies with comfort and ease. She has recovered complete use of her arm, her appetite is splendid, and no money could procure for our daughter the health Dr. Miles' Nervine has brought her.

When my brother recommended the remedy I had no faith in patent medicines, and would not listen to him, but as a last resort he sent us a bottle, we began giving it to Blanche, and the effect was almost immediate."—Mrs. R. R. Bullock, Brighton, N. Y.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs.

COUNTY FAIR MEETING.

A Plan of Organization Presented.—A Finance Committee Appointed and Other Business Transacted.

That the movement on the part of Bellefonte citizens to establish a Centre County Agricultural Fair is a popular one and meeting with the proper amount of encouragement on all sides, was fully attested by the meeting held in the court house on Thursday evening when over one hundred persons were present.

Chairman Thomas A. Shoemaker being out of town, Mr. Hammond Sechler was chosen Chairman pro. tem and called the meeting to order promptly at 8 o'clock. The secretary read the minutes of the previous session which were approved as read.

The committee on location reported that they had made a survey of the McCoy & Linn tract and found that by taking in five acres of ground belonging to John P. Harris and the Rhodes estate, a plot of 21 acres could be obtained which would allow of the putting in of a regulation race course. The only option that would be given by the owners was a five-year lease, with privilege of renewal, at an annual rental not to exceed $650. To change the creek channel on this tract and put in a race course would cost, as estimated, near eight thousand dollars. A survey draft was also presented of the Humes tract. In order to get a regulation track on this plot it would be necessary to take in more ground than at first spoken of and Mr. Humes proposed selling to the association two tracks adjoining, or about 27 acres of land, at $300 per acre. The estimated cost of grading, etc., on this location, was about $5,000. The committee further reported the Valentine tract as being a favorable one, but as yet no option had been obtained on that, although Mr. Valentine had assured them that a positive answer could be given in a few days.

On motion of Clement Dale, Esq., the committee was continued until an answer could be received from the Valentines, when the same was to be at once reported at a special meeting to be called by the president.

The report of the committee to devise a means of permanent organization was read and approved and the committee discharged. The report is as follows:

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Oct. 4, 1894.

THOMAS A. SHOEMAKER, Esq.,
President, & c.:

The undersigned, a Committee to report a plan of organization for the proposed County Fair association, beg leave to submit the following:

Name—"Centre County Agricultural and Industrial Association.

Purpose—For the advancement of the agricultural and industrial interests of Centre county.

Officers—President, two Vice Presidents Secretary, Treasurer and an Executive Committee composed of seven members to be selected from various sections of the county. The president, vice presidents, secretary and treasurer to be ex-officio members of the Executive Committee.

Capital Stock—The Association to be incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania regulating and governing Corporations of the first class. The amount of capital stock of the Association to be $15,000, consisting of one thousand shares of the par value of $15 each.

It was the sense of your Committee that their powers and duties only required them to submit and report the plan or ground work upon which the real structure of the Association should be built, and that its subsequent elaboration as to details, such as the general management and internal workings of the association, the formation of committees and defining their powers and duties, as well as the powers and duties of the association officers, the time and place for holding the meeting of the association, and the general conduct of its affairs came properly within the province of the Committee on Constitution and By-Laws to be appointed upon the adoption of this report.

Respectfully submitted,
EDWIN F. GARMAN,
HAMMON SECHLER,
JOHN MEESE,
J. C. MEYER,
CLEMENT DALE,
Committee.

Following the report Mr. Meyer gave an interesting account of a trip made by Mr. Sechler and himself to Lewisburg fair last Thursday. That fair has been in continuous operation for 41 years, and though the par value of its shares of stock is $15, they are now selling for $25. This speaks for itself without comment. And Mr. Meyer thought that if Union county, the smallest in the state, should conduct such a successful association, Centre county, the largest would be able, with proper management, to hold the best fair in the whole commonwealth.

On motion of Mr. Bush Messrs. George T. Bush, Clement Dale, J. W. Gephart, Thomas A. Shoemaker and M. Fauble were appointed a Finance committee to solicit subscriptions of stock.

Mr. Alfred Owens was present and made a proposition to the meeting, that if it was necessary to have any of his land, he would either sell at a reasonable price, or else exchange, as desired by the association.

A motion to appoint a committee on permanent organization was voted down, and on motion the meeting adjourned to meet in the court house at the call of the president, which will be as soon as the committee on location can render a full and satisfactory report of all locations in view.

County Fair Vs. The Grange.

There seems to be an impression abroad throughout some portions of Centre county that the movement on foot to organize a Centre county fair association is one antagonistic to the grange throughout the county and that it will be operated in opposition to the granger's annual picnic and exhibition at Grange Park, near Centre Hall.

Nothing is more untruthful than such a statement and can be further from the intent and purpose of the proposed fair association. It is not their desire to antagonize the grange but to be friendly with them. In fact they not only desire to be friendly, but they want their co-operation and assistance. The county fair association's annual gatherings will never be held too close to the time of the granger's picnic to conflict with it in any way. And we are authorized by the temporary organization to invite the granger's to join the association. Become stockholders in the same and then you will have an equal say in its management and conduct anyone in Bellefonte or any other portion of the county.

And surely the grange element in the county cannot be adverse to a good county fair. A place where an exhibit of all their agricultural products, their stock, etc., can be made annually. This would be just in line with the very purpose of the grange organization, to foster their calling and inspire a feeling of rivalry among farmers as a class which cannot help but be an advantage to all. Therefore, grangers, don't have the least feeling of jealousy, but join heart and hand with all others in this movement and make the Centre county fair as much yours as that of others, and more than all, help to make it an unpronounced success.

Arrested for Forgery.

A dispatch from Olean, N. Y., says: A well dressed young man, who had been in the city for two or three days stopping at the Hotel Imperial, where he registered as J. L. Showers, of Williamsport, Pa., was arrested Wednesday afternoon for forgery. On his person were found two checks. One was for $54, drawn on the Blair County Banking company, of Tyrone, and indorsed by R. Warner. The other was for $49 on the bank of Coudersport, drawn on the account of D. Conn & Co., payable to the order of R. R. Benson. Showers admits having cashed forged checks at Lock Haven, Philipsburg and Mehaffey, Pa.

Since writing the above we learn that the arrest of Showers was made on a warrant sworn out by Mr. J. N. Neubauer, landlord of the Brockerhoff House, in this place, on whom he also had passed a forged check on September 20th. As the arrest was made on a warrant from this place, Showers will be brought here for trial just as soon as requisition papers can be procured. The amount of the check cashed by Mr. Neubauer was $39.

Y. M. C. A. Officers Elected.

The members of the thriving Bellefonte young Men's Christian Association met in the association rooms on Allegheny street at 8 o'clock on Friday evening for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. In the absence of the president, Gen. James A. Beaver, Mr. J. C. Weaver presided. Prior to the election a brief devotional service was held. The election resulted in a choice of the following persons to represent the association during the coming year:

President—James A. Beaver.
Vice President—Clement Dale.
Recording Secretary—Prof. S. L. Ammerman.
Treasurer—J. C. Weaver.
Board of Directors—J. L. Hughes, Dr. R. G. H. Hayes, J. P. Smith, C. M. Bower, Esq., Theodore Cherry, B. C. Achenbach, W. H. Musser and Newton S. Bailey.

A resolution was adopted in effect that at the regular anniversary meeting the various committee reports would be dispensed with by having the general secretary embody everything in his general report for the year.

Hastings on Curtin.

General Daniel H. Hastings had just finished his address at York Thursday night when a telegram was handed him containing the information that ex-Governor Curtin was dying. The news was rapidly circulated among the group of speakers and statesmen on the stage. Later on General Hastings said: "The news of the condition of Governor Curtin is a shock to me, although at his advanced age the end might be expected at any time. The universal admiration and love with which Governor Curtin is regarded in Centre County, and I should say in the entire State is not bounded by any religious creed or political party.

"By virture of his connection with the great historical events of the 60's he has for years been the one commanding figure in Centre County. His political affiliations never entered into his social relations. He was one of the most lovable men it was ever my privilege to meet. He was honest and straightforward, and absolutely fearless for what he thought was right. Sympathy for the unfortunate and a charity which knew no creed were conspicuous characteristics of his nature.

"As the great war Governor of Pennsylvania he has won an imperishable name in the history of Pennsylvania. But, besides all this, in his home and in the lives of other men on whom he has left the impress of his staunch, rugged and manly he will never be forgotten. Governor Curtin was my personal friend, and nothing that I can say will, I feel, do full justice to his memory.

The 110th Reunion.

Pertaining to the reunion of the 110th Penna. regiment the committee of arrangements met last evening again and transacted some important business. The meeting will open on the 19th and close on the 20th of this month. It was arranged for the committees to solicit subscriptions and otherwise arrange for the entertainment of the veterans by setting them down to a dinner the first day they are here. A camp fire will be held on the 19th and it is proposed to make it an interesting and enjoyable evening for the people who may be present. The speakers will be announced later. It is also decided to have a parade of the visiting soldiers who may be here, whether citizens of Tyrone or visitors. Everybody therefore who served in any capacity in the army during the war is invited to take part in the parade. Altogether it is proposed to make this reunion of the regiment that is more closely identified with Tyrone than any other a grand success, and to this end the co-operation and assistance of all are needed and solicited. Let all help.—Herald.

Killed by Trolley Cars.

Philadelphia, October 5.—Since the introduction of the trolley system by the street railways accidents have been frequent, especially among children, and this evening two more fatalities were added to the rapidly growing death list. As Esther Zalkin, aged 5 years, and her mother started to cross the street at Eighth and Lombard, the child pulled her hand out of her mother's and ran ahead. Just as the little one started across a trolley car came along and she ran directly in front of it. The car struck the child and knocked her down and as the horror stricken mother stood and gazed her baby's skull was crushed in and its brains scattered along the street. Among a crowd of boys playing at Fourth and Wood streets was George Adams, aged 7 years and in running away from some of his playmates he dashed in front of a car and was struck, knocked down and his brains beaten out almost before he had time to realize his fate.

Women Against Tammany.

New York, Oct. 5.—In response to a special notice issued last Tuesday, by Col. John J. Gifford, chairman of the Twenty-third district anti Tammany organization, supplemented by one from Mrs. Mark M. (Brick) Pomeroy, a meeting was held last night by women of this city to organize in opposition to Tammany.

Col. Gifford called the meeting together and Mrs. Pomeroy, who is strikingly handsome, and who was at her very best in the light-colored gown which she wore, was unanimously asked to preside. When she spoke she said that New York was like a house that was reeking with filth, and it was eminently proper that the women of the city should organize to assist in the house cleaning.

Miss Ella Rowls was then chosen secretary, and "Brick" Pomeroy made a speech in which he said that a large percentage of the poverty and misery in the city was due to Tammany, because Tammany built private palaces with the money its leaders stole from funds generally contributed to relieve suffering. Miss Kelly, Mrs. Stimson Smith, and Varica, an Indian princess, also spoke.

Bridge Gave Way.

Centre Reporter: Recently as the dinkey was coming out from the Bear Meadows with a train of lumber, one of the bridges gave way and the dinkey went down. Engineer Stephenson was in the cab, and the steam deluged him. He had to make his way through the escaping steam to the top of the cab to escape being scalded to death, and at once plunged into the stream of water close by, expecting to find relief from the pains. He was taken out of the water and taken to the residence of Frank McFarlane, and a physician summoned as soon as possible. He was found badly scalded about the side, across the back and over the shoulder and arm. Mr. McFarlane insisted upon his remaining at his house until fit to be taken home, which was on the third day after the accident happened, when he desired to go to his family and was taken to his home in the Meadows. The skin has peeled from the scalded parts and his sufferings are great. Whether he will survive remains to be seen.

Mormons in Session.

Salt Lake, Utah, Oct. 5.—The sixty-fifth semi-annual conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, better known as the Mormons, opened to-day with a large attendance. The exercises will last three days and will consist of the usual exortations from prominent elders, with musical selections by the famous choir. It is expected that considerable attention will be paid to politics in the addresses in so far as the formation of the new state constitution is concerned, but as the church is non-partisan as a church, no partisan utterances are looked for. It is unknown as yet whether any new revelations will be promulgated.

Run Down by Bloodhounds.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—A possee of 100 men ran down the three burglars who robbed the Bloomfield bank last night in the hills west of Bloomfield, where they had a desperate fight. One of the trio was so badly wounded he fell behind and attempted to hide in the brush. The bloodhounds nosed him out and his capture was easily effected. He said his name was Charles Rivers. He was taken to Swiss City and will die. He had $1,100 of the stolen money on his person. The other two robbers were captured by the aid of the bloodhounds.

That Georgia Election.

Atlanta, October 5.—The official returns are not all in, but Atkinson, democrat, runs behind his ticket by about 10,000. The rest of the ticket is elected by 25,000 to 30,000. The populists claim fraud and that they have carried the state. The populists will have seven senators and forty members of the house. This will leave the democrats in full control, however.

Disastrous Storm.

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—The steamer Gaelic brought news of a severe hurricane, which, according to the Kobe Chronicle, caused widespread destruction. Villages were swept away and many people killed. Many vessels are supposed to have been lost. The cyclone swept on to the northeast afterward wrecking Logaisk.

Marinopal was practically blotted out of existence. Not three houses in 100 are left standing. It is estimated that over 200 persons perished in this town alone. At Berdionski houses were wrecked and a dozen persons killed by falling timbers.

An "If in the Case.

Philadelphia, October 5.—If ex-Postmaster General John Wanamaker can be induced to become a candidate for the presidency of the Reading Railroad company, there will probably be three tickets in the field at the annual meeting in January. President Harris will be a candidate for re-election, and Isaac L. Rice has already announced that he will head a ticket.

WITHOUT THE
Non-pull-out
BOW (RING)
it is easy to steal or ring watches from the pocket. The thief gets the watch in one hand, the chain in the other and gives a short, quick jerk—the ring slips off the watch stem, and away goes the watch, leaving the victim only the chain.

This idea stopped that little game:

The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (stem) and fits into the grooves, firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

Local Department.

—Sunday was a most delightful autumn day.

—The base ball season is at an end, and the head-splitting, limb-breaking foot ball time is here.

—Patents have been granted to B. F. Nicholas, of Renova, for a clothes-drier, and W. R. Williams, Philipsburg, for a hinge seating device.

—A large transparency has been put up in front of the Democratic head-quarters, second floor of Crider's Exchange. It contains crayon portraits of Singerly and Billing.

Don't forget the lecture of Prof. Stockton Axson, on "University Extension" in the court house to-morrow evening. The Prof. will have something of universal interest to tell all who attend.

—About five o'clock on Sunday afternoon the house of William Barnhart, near Mt Eagle, caught fire and was burned to the ground. Only part of the furniture was saved from the flames.

—The students of the Academy have organized their foot ball association for the year as follows: President, George Armor; treasurer, Jay Woodcock; manager, Fred Blanchard; captain, J. R. Hughes.

—There will be a sale of fine cakes, candies and jellies in the W. C. T. U. rooms Saturday afternoon, October 13th, from 3 to 5 o'clock. The sale is under the management of the Temperance ladies. Please give them a call.

—Mr. Harry D. Edmiston and Miss Lizzie M. Sowers, of State College, were united in marriage at the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal church in Philipsburg, on Saturday afternoon, the 6th inst., by Rev. A. R. Miller, D. D.

—On Saturday evening while at a meeting of the Odd Fellows, Mr. Thomas Miles of Milesburg, was stricken with paralysis His condition is now such that the attending physician has given up hopes of his recovery. He is aged about 63 years.

—To-morrow the State Association of Democratic Clubs will hold their annual convention in Altoona. The William M. Singerly club, of this place, about sixty strong, accompanied by the Bellefonte band will go up on the early train and attend the gathering.

—On Sunday evening a hack load of ten young men, members of the Y. M. C. A. of this place, went to Unionville to hold a gospel meeting. They were accompanied by a male quartette composed of Messrs. Charles Shuey, Walter Whippo, acob Smith and W. H. Musser.

—Capt. H. H. Montgomery brought to Bellefonte from Olean, N. Y., on Tuesday night J. L. Showers, the forger who had been carrying on his work with a high hand in all the surrounding towns as well as Bellefonte. He will be tried here at the next session of criminal court.

—The Pennsylvania State Agricultural society will meet at State College on Oct. 17 and 18. The Bellefonte Central railroad company will run special trains leaving Bellefonte at 7.15 a. m. Wednesday and 8.16 a. m. Thursday, returning each day at noon. One fare for round trip.

—On Thursday evening of next week, Oct. 11th, an oyster supper will be held by the Zion band at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gentzel, in Spring township, near Nigh bank. Oysters, ice cream, cake, bananas, etc., will be served. There will be plenty of good music, and a first class time is in store for all who will attend.

—The junior department of the Y. M. C. A. have elected the following officers for the coming year: President, Wallace Reeder; vice president, Alfred Brisbin; secretary and treasurer, Wallace Gephart. Next Friday evening the juniors will hold a reception in their new rooms. All boys in Bellefonte botween the ages of 10 and 15 are cordially invited to attend.

—Extensive preparations are going on in York for the approaching Christian Endeavor convention to be held in that city on the 17th, 18th and 19th of this month. An immense throng of people from all over the state are expected to come there and participate in what promises to be one of the greatest conventions of the kind ever held in Pennsylvania.

Death of Thomas Miles.

On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Thomas Miles, one of the most respected citizens of Milesburg, died at his residence in that place after an illness of only a few days. The cause of his death was appoplexy. He was born in Howard, April 6, 1829, and was thus 65 years and 6 months of age. He is survived by seven children, namely, William D., Johnstown; Thomas M., Milton: Mrs. Mary J. Rishel, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Clara B. Adams and John E. Miles, of Milesburg. His wife and two children preceeded him to the grave. The funeral occurred at 1 o'clock this afternoon, the same being in charge of the I. O. O. F. and G. A. R. Rev. George Warren officiated. Interment was made in the Union cemetery, Bellefonte.

GOV. CURTIN DEAD.

THE "OLD WAR GOVERNOR" SUCCUMBS AT

Five O'Clock Sunday Morning,

After Only a Three Days' Serious Illness. A General Breaking Down the Cause. Funeral on Wednesday. A Brief Sketch.

Never has there been such profound and universal sorrow felt over the death of any man than the people, not only of Bellefonte and Centre county, but of the entire State of Pennsylvania and many of the adjoining states, are now experiencing over the death of our most eminent townsman, Hon. Andrew Gregg Curtin, the "Old War Governor" of the Keystone state and the last surviving chief executive of those troublous days way back in the sixties. Governor Curtin died precisely at five o'clock Sunday morning, surrounded only by the immediate members of his family.

CAUSE OF HIS DEATH.

The old war governor's illness dates back to a fall received on the ice sometime last winter, from the effects of which he never fully recovered. He improved considerable, however, and was able to be out and around, even taking a few brief trips away from home. But his nervous system was left in a bad condition and he was obliged to take the utmost care of himself.

About the middle of August Mr. Curtin had an attack, becoming quite ill, so that then his physicians thought his condition extremely critical, but from which he gradually recovered sufficiently to be up and about the house, although from that time on he never was able to appear on the street. On Sunday, September 30th, Mr. Curtin sat on his front porch for a brief time, and again on Monday. His frail constitution was not able to stand the contact with the bracing atmosphere of those days and the result was Mr. Curtin caught a slight cold. Monday night he had a nervous chill and Tuesday morning he was feeling so ill that Dr. Harris advised him to remain in bed. This he did, and from that time on he never again arose. It was not until Thursday, however, that his condition became critical. Then his family as well as physician became alarmed and Doctors Dobbins and Fairlamb were called for consultation. Thursday night he sank so rapidly that it was thought he would not survive until morning. But he rallied about midnight and improved some what, so that on Friday he was considerably stronger than he had been the day previous, and again hopes were entertained of recovery. All day Friday his condition continued about the same but it was apparent that his frail system could not long endure the strain then put upon it.

Friday night he was more restless and it was then that the last hope was banished and his family and physicians realized that it was only a question of a short time. All through Saturday he continued sinking gradually, but surely. He grew delirious and it was necessary to administer an opiate to keep him calm. About four o'clock Saturday afternoon he sank into a quiet sleep, unconscious, and from that time until his death on Sunday morning he never rallied, but sank continually, gradually sleeping his life away until the end came as calmly and peacefully as a babe asleep in its mother's arms. What a fit ending to the life of such a noble man! He had sailed on life's most rugged seas, buffeted with its most turbulent storms, but his entrance into the harbor of rest was as peaceful as could be. So quietly was the last breath drawn that the sorrowful and weary watchers by his bedside hardly realized the change from time into eternity until it was made.

The direct cause of Mr. Curtin's death was a general breaking down of the nervous system, and it was only because of the wonderful vitality of the man that he was able to survive as long as he did. Always stalwart and strong, suffering no sickness, until within a few years back, his constitution was such that when once attacked in the way it now was the powerful framework could not long endure the strain and was unable to withstand the destroying power of age and disease.

Telegrams of condolence have been received from Governor Pattison and Hon. A. K. McClure, both of whom will be present at the funeral, and Governor Flower, of New York.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

"Andrew Gregg Curtin was the chief executive of the Keystone state during the civil war, and because his services to his country were so great then he is chiefly known as Pennsylvania's "war governor." But his public services, aside from those he rendered during the great contest, were of sufficient importance to have given a lesser man lasting fame. He served in congress for several years, he represented the United States government for three years at the court of the czar of all the Russias, and he was a lawyer of extended practice.

He was a native of Bellefonte, and was born April 22, 1815. His father, who was from County Clare, Ireland, established one of the first iron manufactories in Pennsylvania. He was educated at the common schools of Bellefonte and the academy at Milton, and when he had finished the course of the latter institution two professions were open to him—the law and the ministry. He chose the former and was admitted to the bar in 1839. He won his first case and quickly built up a good practice.

It was during the campaign of 1840, when he was but 23 years of age, that young Curtin took the stump for William Henry Harrison. Four years later he was even more prominent in the canvass for Henry Clay. In 1848 and 1852 he was a Whig elector. In 1854 he was considered one of the leaders of his party, and his nomination for governor was strongly urged that year. He declined the honor because Governor Pollock, an old schoolmate, desired a re-election and worked for his renomination and election with unbounded zeal. Pollock was elected, and Curtin became his secretary of state.

The Republican party was at that time in its formative state, and Curtin was one of its chief spirits. He secured the Republican nomination for governor and was elected by a majority of 32,000 votes.

His first acts after his nomination were turned toward the national Republican nominating convention at Chicago, where he joined in the fight for Lincoln's nomination.

The state contest closed in Pennsylvania in October and was no less exciting than the national canvass. "As goes Pennsylvania, so goes the union," was the cry everywhere. Mr. Curtin took to the stump as soon as he returned from Chicago, and his labors were incessant until the close of the state campaign. The victory won then went a long way toward insuring national victory in November.

Governor Curtin was inaugurated Jan. 1. 1861, and was immediately confronted with unprecedented difficulties. It was evident that the south would revolt. Curtin first met Lincoln on Feb. 22 at Harrisburg. The president-elect was on his way to Washington, and at a private conference, at which Governor Curtin was present, the startling news was told that a plot against Lincoln's life had been discovered. Governor Curtin invited Lincoln to spend the night at his house, and to allay suspicion left the remainder of the presidential party at the hotel. Instead of taking the president to his house, Curtin drove with him to the outskirts of the town, where a special train was in waiting.

Shortly after his inauguration President Lincoln called Governor Curtin to Washington and asked him to recognize the existence of civil war in a message to the Pennsylvania legislature. This Curtin did in a document that, considering the haste with which it was prepared and all the attendant circumstances, must be regarded as one of the strongest of modern state papers. Within forty-eight hours the legislature had authorized the governor to raise and equip troops for the defence of the Union, and had appropriated half a million dollars to pay the bills.

When Lincoln called for 75,000 men, the soldiers of Pennsylvania were the first state volunteers to reach the national capital. Then Governor Curtin asked and obtained from the legislature power to raise a reserve of not less than fifteen nor more than thirty regiments to serve for three years or till the close of the war, the forces to be transferred to the general government if necessary. These troops preserved their identity intact until the close of the war.

The conference of the governors, at Altoona Sept. 24, 1872, was the result of correspondence between Curtin and Governor Andrew, of Massachusetts. Its outcome was the famous address indorsing Lincoln's emancipation proclamation.

Throughout the war Governor Curtin supported Mr. Lincoln's policy unswervingly. He left the gubernatorial chair in 1867 and was shortly afterward mentioned for United States senator, but was defeated by Simon Cameron. He was also named for vice president in the convention of 1868, but Colfax secured the nomination.

In 1868 he worked earnestly for the election of Grant and Colfax and after the former's inauguration in 1869 he was given the appointment of Minister to Russia, where he served his country with credit to himself and to the admiration of all. In 1878 he was beaten for Congress by Mr. Yocum but in 1880 he was elected by an overwhelming majority, and again re-elected in 1882, and also in 1884, serving until 1887, and since that time he has lived a retired life in his handsome residence in this place.

Mr. Curtin was married May 24th, 1844, to Miss Katherine Wilson. The result of the union was five children, namely: Mary W., wife of Dr. George F. Harris; Jennie G., who was married to Mr. William H. Sage, of Ithaca, N. Y., and who died less than a year ago; Marcy I., widow of Captain K. R. Breeze; W. W. Curtin, of Philadelphia, and Kate W., wife of M. D. Burnet, of Syracuse, N. Y. All the children living have been at home for some time and were near their father in his last moments.

Centre County Bar Meeting.

A meeting of the Centre county bar was held this morning to take action regarding the death of ex-Governor Curtin. Judge A. O. Furst presided and G. W. Rumberger and W. F. Smith acted as secretaries. On motion of General Beaver the following committees were appointed:

On resolutions—General James A. Beaver, John B. Linn, Ira Mitchell, John G. Love and J. L. Spangler.

On invitation—J. C. Meyer, E. R. Chambers and Clement Dale.

On reception—W. E. Gray, Harry Keller and John M. Dale.

LAID IN THE TOMB.

TEN THOUSAND PEOPLE ATTEND THE

Funeral of Governor Curtin

A Thronged Meeting, Affecting Religious Services and an Imposing Procession. Full Particulars of the Entire Day.

When the morning light broke over the people of this vicinity on Wednesday morning it displayed a scene of even greater pictured sorrow and sadness than could even be imagined. The streets of Bellefonte were literally curtained in black in respect to the memory of its dead, and, to add to the solemnity of the occasion, copious showers of rain were falling as if the heavens themselves had opened to mingle tears of sorrow over the death of such a great and beloved man.

The inclement weather, no doubt, kept thousands from attending who otherwise would have been here, but as it was fully ten thousand of Pennsylvania's sons and daughters braved the elements and turned out to pay their last tribute of respect to one whose name will go down through the ages of history as having few equals and no superiors in the administration of governmental affairs in the history of the state or the nation. As early as Tuesday evening the delegations began to arrive and every incoming train Wednesday morning was crowded to its utmost capacity, while a half dozen or more special trains came to town to convey the crowds in attendance.

The first order of the day's services was the citizen's memorial meeting in the court house at 10 o'clock. At the appointed hour the building was filled to overflowing with an immense throng and many of the most prominent men in the state were among the audience. General Beaver called the meeting to order and Judge A. O. Furst was chosen to preside. Hon. Jerome B. Miles, of Tioga county, and Judge Landis, of Blair county, were chosen vice presidents, while W. F. Smith, G. W. Rumberger and the press representatives acted as secretaries. Judge Furst stated the object of the meeting and Gen. Beaver read the minutes and resolutions of the Centre County Bar Association and moved its adoption. Before putting the motion Judge Furst gave opportunity to those desiring to do so to speak in memory of the deceased and then introduced Hon. William B. Mann, of Philadelphia Mr. Mann was a life-long friend of the old war governor and it was he who first advised nominating him for governor in 1860. His tribute was very affecting. Governor Pattison was the next speaker introduced and he, in part, said: That he had always remembered Governor Curtin as his boyhood's hero; and had always regarded him as the man next greatest to Lincoln. Senator John Scott, of Philadelphia, also spoke feelingly, but it was left for Col. A. K. McClure, of the Philadelphia Times, to pay the most sublime and touching tribute of respect. Mr. McClure reviewed his early history from early manhood to the grave and closed with the following tribute: "He laid down the policy of this government. In his first inaugural address he spoke the words that guided the nation through all that disastrous war, and every line he then said was fulfilled in blood and chrystalized with the saving and prosperity of this nation. Gov. Curtin, we tell you, he is dead. He has passed from among us. But he is not dead. There will be a perpetual springtime, a perpetual renewal of life. God has created nothing that dies. And here over the bier of our loved one is the place to declare it. The soul will live immortal forever. The sun may sink behind the hilltops and we call it night. And so the night has come. We carry the body of Governor Curtin to the tomb to-day, but from generation to generation his memory and his example will shine as the bright star of light to every lover and worshipper of a free government.

Senator Wallace spoke briefly and closed with these words: Curtin as a man, as a governor, as a statesman, as the genial, upright, honorable man that he was, fills the minds of all who knew him and make them a tribute to his work. If you would behold his monument, look around you; it is here among these people." The meeting was closed with brief tributes by Hon. John M. Bailey, of Huntingdon, who was a member with Governor Curtin at the constitutional convention in 1873, and Gen. J. P. S. Gobin, of Lebanon.

Promptly at 12 o'clock the meeting adjourned after having adopted the resolutions offered by Gen. Beaver At the same hour the remains, under a special guard of honor, composed of members of Gregg Post and Company B, were taken to the court house and placed on a catafalque inside the bar, and for one hour and a half there was one continuous stream of humanity going past to take the last farewell look at the loved features. During that brief space of time 4.505 persons viewed the remains. The school children of Bellefonte marched in a body.

The remains of Governor Curtin reposed in a rosewood casket draped in black, on which was a silver plate with the simple inscription "Andrew Gregg Curtin." The features were remarkably calm, composed and like-like, looking more as if the dead were but sleeping than gone to his eternal rest. The floral offerings were most profuse and appropriate, and included tokens from Gregg Post, the Bar Association, Orphans' Sixteeners' Association, the Masonic fraternity and others. At 1.30 o'clock the remains were taken back to the Curtin residence and promptly at 2 o'clock religious services were held.

These were of the simplest character. They were opened by the reading of scripture and prayer by Dr. Robinson, of the Western Theological Seminary, Allegheny City, who was Mr. Curtin's pastor while he was governor in Harrisburg. Rev. Dr. Laurie, pastor in charge, then preached a beautiful sermon from the text: "Know ye not that a great man is fallen this day." Following the sermon Rev. Robinson spoke briefly and then closed the services with prayer.

By this time the rain clouds had all disappeared and the sun was shining forth in all its splendor. It was just ten minutes of three o'clock when the procession already formed began the march to the cemetery. The procession was formed as follows:

1st. The military escort, detailed by Gov. Pattison, Col. Theodore Burchfield commanding, consisting of the following of the National Guard of Pennsylvania: Second brigade band of Pittsburg playing the dead march; Sheridan troop, of Tyrone; battery B, companies A, B, C and G of the Fifth Regiment, and A, B, D, G and H of the Twelfth regiment.

As special Escort of Honor, the Grand Army of the Republic, Col. Amos, Mullen in charge.

Clergy in carriages.

Honorary Pall Bearers in the following order:

Gov. Pattison and Judge Dean, Senator Scott and Senator Wallace, Gen. Brooke and Gen. Taylor, Col. McClure and Col. Mann, Judge Biddle and Col. McMichael, Judge Furst and Mr Humes, Gen. Hastings and Mr. Collins.

The Body with the Carriers on each side the hearse.

The Family and Friends.

The representatives of the Pennsylvania Reserve Association, Capt. John Taylor in charge.

Representatives of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion.

Representatives of the Union League of Philadelphia.

Representatives of the Bald Eagle Valley R. R. Co.

General Officers of the National Guard of Pennsylvania, the Governor's Staff and the staffs of the General Officers of the National Guard and other officers according to rank.

Representatives of the Centre County Veteran Association, John Hamilton in charge.

The Several Bar Associations of Centre and adjoining Counties, Col. J. L. Spangler in charge.

Battalion of State College Cadets, Lieut. E. W. McCaskey commanding.

President and Members of the Town Council of the Borough of Bellefonte.

Citizens generally, Burgess W. E. Gray in charge.

The procession was fully a mile and a half in length, the first part being in the cemetery before the rear got started. The streets were a mass of humanity and every window for squares and all along the route was packed full. And in all that vast throng there was not one but who fully felt the solemnity of the occasion and as the hearse bearing the body passed but dropped a silent tear in memory of the departed. It was truly a touching spectacle and bore testimony far stronger than words as to the hold Governor Curtin had on the people of the state everywhere. When the procession all arrived at the cemetery it was packed with a sea of living humanity and it was difficult to get to the grave. The remains were taken in charge at the grave by Gregg post, No. 95, of this place, of which Governor Curtin was the only honorary member, and interred according to the ritual of the Grand Army, Commander Thomas H. Donachy officiating, assisted by the post chaplain. The remains were interred beside the grave of the dead governor's son, who died when an infant in the year 1857. It is one of the most beautiful spots in central Pennsylvania.

At the lose of these services at the grave a battalion salute of three volleys and one cannon were fired by the division under command of Colonel Coryell, of Williamsport.

One incident worthy of note which took place at the grave was the placing of two carnations on the coffin just before it was covered in the vault by Comrade Owen Jones, of Pensylvania Reserve post 191, Philadelphia. Seven years ago when Governor Curtin attended the annual reunion of the reserves at Lancaster, he exacted a promise of Mr. Jones that, when he died the latter should drop a red flower on his coffin, and Mr. Jones was here to fulfill his promise at that time given.

At the conclusion of the services at the cemetery the procession reformed and marched back to town, the various organizations to the depots and others dispersing to their homes.

Among the many notables who attended the funeral can be mentioned Governor Pattison, Secretary William F. Harrity General Latta, State Treasurer Jackson, George B. Orlady and Hon. John M. Bailey, of Huntingdon; John Rodearmel, of Harrisburg; W. H. Fry, of Newport; W. C. Shaeffer, of West Chester; William Emslie, department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic; Henry I. Yohn, cashier of the water department, Philadelphia; W. C. McPhail, of the survey department; S. C. Kellar and W. C. Taggart, of Philadelphia, and all the division brigade commanders and their respective staffs of the National Guard.

The last of the visitors who were here attending the funeral departed at 6.10 o'clock. The first to leave was a special train at 4.35 which carried the car containing Governor Pattison and party to Harrisburg, the car containing the Philadelphia delegation, and the car with the division officers of the National Guard. At 5.15 a special train went to Sunbury, having on board the military company from Lewisburg and the Grand Army of the Republic delegations. The special train bearing four companies of the Twelfth regiment departed for Williamsport at 5.25, and at 6.10 o'clock the last special departed having on board the Sheridan troop, companies A. C. and D. of the Fifth regiment, members of Battery B, and the Second Brigade band, of Pittsburg. The artillery was shipped to Pittsburg this morning.

Notwithstanding the large crowd in Bellefonte, there was not the slightest misconduct to mar the solemnity of the occasion. There were three accidents during the day. An old soldier from Lycoming county had an arm broken and two of the artillery men were injured by a fractious horse.

Governor Curtin's Will.

The will of Governor Curtin, as probated to-day, is as follows:

I, Andrew G. Curtin, of the borough of Bellefonte, in the county of Centre and state of Pennsylvania, being of sound mind, memory and understanding, do make and publish this my last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all former wills by me at any time heretofore made.

I give, devise and bequeath unto my beloved wife, Katherine W. Curtin, her heirs and assigns forever, all my property, real, personal and mixed, of what nature or kind soever, and wheresoever the same shall be at the time of my death.

And I do nominate, constitute and appoint my son William W. Curtin, and my friend, John Blanchard, to be the executors of this my last will and testament.

In witness whereof, I, Andrew G. Curtin, the testator have to this my last will set my hand and seal, this fourth day of September, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four.

(Signed) A. G. CURTIN.
